BELIEVED THAT LABOR UNIONS WILL NOT ACCEPT WAGE REDUCTIONS

All Local Textile Unions Represented at Meeting Held Yesterday Afternoon—Workers Condemn Action of Mills in Reducing Wages—If Strike Is Called Only Mills Having Posted Notices Will Be Affected

There were nearly 100 delegates representing the various textile unions of this city, which are affiliated with the United Textile Workers of America, at the special meeting of the Lowell Textile Council held in Trades and Labor hall, Central street, yesterday afternoon, for the purpose of discussing the notices of a 20 per cent. reduction in wages posted recently at the Hamilton Mfg. Co. and the notice of readjustment of wages at the Bay State Cotton corp. and it is said that the delegates deplored the action of the mill officials in reducing wages.

PRES. HARDING FORMALLY CLOSES HISTORY-MAKING CONFERENCE

Great Applause Follows Signing of Treaties and Farewell Address by President—Terms Session First Deliberate and Effective of Great Powers, in the Consciousness of Peace and of War's Utter Futility

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6. (By the Associated Press).—The history-making conference on the limitation of armaments and far eastern questions came to its end today with the signing of treaties and a farewell address by President Harding.

With its work characterized by Mr. Harding as "the first deliberate and effective expression of great powers, in the consciousness of peace and of war's utter futility," the great conference went to its niche of history to await the judgments and developments of the future.

In the great assembly hall of the Daughters of the American Revolution where all its open sessions have been held, the delegates of the nine nations assembled, marched in turn to a space at the great table and affixed their signatures to treaties and agreements which are all parts of the structure built to lift from a war-torn world the burden of excessive naval armaments; to promote the peace of the Pacific; to give a new bill of rights to China and to remove from the far east, particularly the clouds of war.

And as each delegation affixed signatures as plenipotentiaries pledging the honor of their respective nations to the good faith of the settlements agreed upon, the great audience expressed the hopes of the world in its loud and prolonged applause.

At the conclusion of the ceremony of signing, President Harding delivered his address, formally closing the conference as he formally had opened it a little more than 12 weeks ago. The final session was called to order just after 10 o'clock this morning. Secretary Hughes announced that "the treaties will now be signed," and the American delegation filed around to the foot of the big green-topped table of the secretary general's desk inside the enclosure and began signing.

MEN ARRESTED IN GAMBLING RAID ARRAIGNED IN DISTRICT COURT

Keepers of Gaming Resorts Fined $50—Many Others Pay $5 Each—Police Were Busy Over the Week End

Charged variously with keeping a gaming resort, gambling on the Lord's day and being present while gambling was in progress, 45 men appeared before Judge Thomas J. Baright in district court this morning. The number should have been 49, but four of the defendants defaulted. A fine of $50 was ordered for one of the prisoners, charged with keeping a gaming resort, and most of the others were released on payment of fines of $5 each. The victims of one of the raids were continued until February 4. The largest assembly appeared in consequence of a raid on a house in Dummer street, known as "The Club" to its patrons. In this case, the manner in which entry was secured, ac-ording to the prosecution's testimony, was sensational. Officer Conroy being catapulted through a window, carrying frame and all with him. Besides the alleged proprietor, 26 men were taken from this place. After hearing the case, Judge Baright imposed a fine of $50 on the proprietor, Naim Haroun, and $5 each on the following: Patrick J. Dowling, Haim Ali, Osman Ali, John Amir, Haimid Hussain, Ali Baker, Peter Caras, George Pappas, Charles Pappas, James Pappas, Charles Tellos, Mustafa Ali, Charles Pappas, Nicholas Mangos, Charles Pappas, Charles Woulas, James Pappas, George Pappas, Paul Margolis, George Petros, George Genas, Nicholas Pappas and William Michas. George Stanley, Peter Ghepas, John Pappas and Haim Haroun failed to appear and were defaulted.

In another raid, 14 men were found in the rear of a barber shop on Lake-

Cordially Greeted at Naples
NAPLES, Feb. 6 (by the Associated Press).—Cardinal O'Connell, archbishop of Boston, arrived in Naples on board the steamer President Wilson from New York at 6.30 o'clock this morning. He left immediately for Rome on a special train as a guest of the Italian government. The harbor authorities despatched a launch to meet the steamer to take off the prelate and facilitate his transfer to the train for Rome. Cardinal O'Connell received a most cordial greeting from the populace and officials. All customs and passport formalities were waived.

Walter C. Bruce, formerly a clerk in the office of the city purchasing agent, will appear before the board of health at 4.30 this afternoon to bring charges of incivility against Dr. Forster, H. Smith, superintendent of the isolation hospital. Mr. Bruce said today that his action in taken as the result of treatment accorded a woman employee of the hospital, who was sick and he also alleges poor treatment of patients in one or two instances. The charges have not been preferred against the superintendent in writing, but Mr. Bruce has notified the board that he will be present and has requested that they summon Dr. Smith.

Have instructed me, as manager, to dispose of the stock of merchandise as early as possible. The local newspaper article of January 30, carrying the information that Associate Building was sold, compels us to take this action. It will be an event unprecedented in Lowell because of the size of the store and the character and volume of merchandise, and sensational because never before in the commercial history of Lowell has such an occasion arisen that has to be met with such drastic measures.

For two and one-half years we have been doing business in an atmosphere of uncertainty and we are not disposed to be at the mercy of real estate speculators and be compelled to pass the burden of increased rent on to our customers. Specific announcement later.

Thousands Join in Mighty Cheer as Wisp of Smoke Tells of Election of Pope

Impressive Ceremony After Conclave of Sacred College Reached Decision

New Pope is 65, a Native of Italy and Reputed to Have Liberal Tendencies

ROME, Feb. 6.—(By the Associated Press).—Cardinal Achille Ratti, archbishop of Milan, was proclaimed elected pope in succession to the late Benedict XV, this morning. He has taken the name of Pius XI.

Thousands Cheer Election
The thousands waiting in front of St. Peter's for the wisp of smoke which would tell of the election of the new pope, or the failure of the Sacred college to reach a decision, gave a mighty shout at 11.53 o'clock when a thin wisp of smoke came from the chimney leading from the Sistine chapel. It was then known that the Catholic church had once more a duly elected pontiff.

As soon as the two-thirds vote for Cardinal Ratti had been verified, Cardinal Vannutelli, as dean of the Sacred college, arose and proceeded to the throne of the chosen one, accompanied on either side by Cardinals Logue and Bisleti, respectively deans of the cardinal priests and the cardinal deacons. He was asked in Latin by Cardinal Vannutelli in accordance with custom if he accepted the election to be supreme pontiff, and the new pope answered with the formula: "Since it is the will of God, I must obey."

Takes Name of Pius XI
Then the purple capes over the thrones of the cardinals were let down one by one, until only that over the new pontiff remained. This was done to show that the whole Sacred college rendered obedience to the new head of the church. Dean Vannutelli thereupon asked the new incumbent what name he chose to take during his pontificate, and upon his reply, "Pius XI," Monsignor Sincero, secretary of the conclave, verified his election to the papal chair.

The new pope was then escorted to the antechamber within the Sistine chapel, where he discarded his cardinal's robes, assisted by the conclavists, and the papal vestments, which had been held in readiness since the opening of the conclave, were placed upon him. These included the white cassock, white sash, white stockings, red slippers, a red and gold mozzetta, and finally the stole of red, worked with gold.

Cardinals Adore New Pontiff
The pontiff fully vested in papal garb and accompanied by his cardinals thereupon returned to the throne he had occupied in the Sistine chapel. There the cardinals, according to their rank, and headed by Vannutelli, Continued to Page Seven

HUNT N. Y. MAN IN TAYLOR CASE

Jealousy Directs Search for New Yorker, Formerly Engaged to Film Star

Pink Lingerie, Bearing Initials of Actress, Said to Have Disappeared

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 6.—Jealousy has directed search for a prominent New York young man, formerly engaged to one of the stars of Bloniam in connection with the shooting last Wednesday night of William Desmond Taylor, police and private detectives reported today. Efforts to solve the mystery in the slaying of Taylor brought police today to a "cut-back," a rechecking of the dead man's papers in the hope of obtaining a clue.

Mystery Surrounds Peculiar Affair in Middlesex Street—Were Blows Struck?

Was there murder in this man's heart? In Middlesex street, near School Sunday night, two men were walking toward the railroad station, when one was seen to stagger and fall as if a blunt instrument in the hand of the other fell on his head with great force. His companion was seen to stoop over the body and was heard to repeat several times: "Sam, are you dead?" The man was Samuel Paul.

500 Patrons in Uproar Following Explosion in New York Theatre

NEW YORK, Feb. 5.—An explosion, followed by fire, caused a panic among 500 patrons of a motion picture theatre in West 23d street yesterday afternoon, but all got out safely. The blaze was put out after it had destroyed several thousand feet of film and damaged the operating room. The playhouse, one of small seating capacity, was crowded when the explosion occurred. ## MEAT CAUSE OF KIDNEY TROUBLE

Take Salts to Flush Kidneys If Back Hurts or Bladder Bothers

If you must have your meat every day, eat it hot. Flush your kidneys with salts occasionally, says a noted authority who tells us that meat forms uric acid which almost paralyzes the kidneys in their efforts to expel it from the blood. They become sluggish and, weakened, then you suffer with a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or side, headache, dizziness, your stomach grows restless, is excited, and when the result is a bad case of indigestion, the kidneys often get sore and irritated, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night.

To neutralize these irritating acids, to cleanse the kidneys and flush out the body's urinous waste, get four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy here; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then set free. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with bicarbonate, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize uric acid, to remove bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, cannot injure and never has a detrimental effect. Get little water-drinkers, Adv.

shot upward, the music stopped, and in an instant the place was in an uproar.

Several persons were slightly injured in the crash at the exits. A cool attendant swung open the doors, while Mrs. Grace Holly, the pianist, resumed her playing in an attempt to restore calm. She was the last to leave the building.

A police inquiry to determine the cause of the explosion was begun.

SEC. DENBY COMMENDS SEVEN NAVY HEROES.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—Seven members of the crew of the cruiser Huroon, flagship of the Asiatic fleet, have been commended by Secretary Denby for heroism in the rescue of four of their shipmates from a gas-filled four-hull. The next of kin of two others, who died at the same time, have received letters of condolence. The accident occurred last August.

A detail of mess cooks had gone to the forward four hull of the Huroon to "break out" four for the bakeshop. Seaman David Mathewson, the first to enter, was immediately overcome by carbon dioxide gas, generated by the concentration of damp fumes.

Seaman John J. Merrill and Anton Hahn went to his assistance, but were rendered unconscious by the gas. The ringing of a wind sail to a discharge from the ventilating system to carry fresh air into the hold enabled others to reach the men, but not until seaman William Wachter was added to those overcome. Seaman Merrill and Hahn died from the effects of the gas. The men commended were chief warrant officer Walter T. Foley, Boston, Mass.; shipwright Frank C. Hookford, Pittsburgh; chief electrician Clarence A. Howell, San Francisco; seaman Wesley A. Bee, Brooklyn; chief electrician Harry Kramer, Philadelphia; chief pharmacist's mate Morton H. Mangold, Lorena, Ok.; and chief machinist's mate William Wachter, Seattle, Wash. Merrill's home was in Burlington, Vt., and that of Hahn in Conrath, Wis.

TRIBUTE TO DIST.

ATTY. PELLETIER

BOSTON, Feb. 5.—Referring to the administration of the office of the district attorney of Suffolk county, Asst. Dist. Attorney Daniel W. Casey, in a speech before 500 members of the St. Alphonsus association, said in part:

"The standard of morality in Boston has been high during the last 13 years because Boston has had at her helm an able and humane man. And when the air of suspicion is cleared and people begin to think with a clearer vision, all will arise and say, 'Well done, thou good and faithful servant.' He added that the district attorney's office demands a great deal of judgment, and believed that its occupants should continue to be elected by the people. District attorneys, he said, usually spring from the people and have rubbed elbows with the people, and therefore know better than judges how to deal with the people. He added that 500 cases come yearly before the superior court, which can only handle about 7500. Therefore, the district attorney is given a certain amount of judicial judgment. The power of not pros, he said, is a great power for good.

DECREASE IN NUMBER OF AUTO FATALITIES

BOSTON, Feb. 5.—Frank A. Goodwin, state registrar of motor vehicles, announced with considerable satisfaction yesterday that "the first month of the new year shows a remarkable reduction in the number of persons killed in the same month of last year." Continuing, Mr. Goodwin says:

"Last year there were 27 persons killed and 130 injured in January. This reduction has taken place notwithstanding the fact that 25,000 more cars were registered up to Jan. 31 than last year, and with weather conditions favorable to automobilizing.

"An analysis of the figures shows that this reduction is entirely among adults. There were seven children killed last year and seven killed this year, while there were 20 adults killed last year and only six this year.

"Another interesting fact disclosed is that the percentage of deaths caused in accidents in the night time is less than last year. In January of 1921, 17 accidents in which fatalities occurred happened in the daytime, and 16 at night, while this year 11 accidents took place in the daytime and only two at night.

"The reason for this extraordinary reduction can be traced perhaps to universal examinations, stricter enforcement by the police against those operating under the influence of liquor, and the new headlight regulation."

$300,000,000 TREASURY HAS DISAPPEARED

SEREBYEV, Russia, Feb. 5.—The $300,000,000 treasury of the Cathedral of the Trinity monastery of St. Sergius has disappeared. Red soldiers now use as a barracks the buildings of what was once regarded as the richest and most famous convent of all the Russias, save possibly that at Kiev. There are but five monks left in the monastery. Fifteen others have removed a mile and a half distant to the Church of Gethsemane, at Chernigovskaya (Mother of God), where they have founded an humble community and till the soil.

The other monks who lived at this vast religious house, to which yearly came 100,000 pilgrims, have been scattered.

There are but few pilgrims now to pray before the icon of St. Sergius, the miraculous power of which was supposed by Russians to have saved the monastery from destruction by the French army of invasion in 1812.

The very jewels of the open silver sarcophagus of St. Sergius have been removed or replaced with false ones, it is claimed. Many of the vast treasures of church vessels, mitres and croziers, made of solid gold and inlaid with precious stones of immense value are missing. It is claimed that the loot from the monastery equalled in value the treasures of gold and silver and stones of St. Peter's in Rome.

The monks remaining at the monastery show the churches to the few visitors. The monastery is closed as a national soviet museum. No service is held within the celebrated churches.

This city, which in pre-war days permitted neither Jews nor soldiers to camp or dwell here, is now full of both. Many of the big merchant stores were burned in July, 1920, as in other cities of Russia, as part of a counter-revolutionary movement. At the same time portions of the lofty outer walls, built in the middle ages to defend the monastery, were damaged.

PLEA FOR GRADING OF M. E. SUNDAY SCHOOLS

CHICAGO, Feb. 5.—A plea for the grading of all Methodist Episcopal Sunday schools was made here today by Rev. Roger Albright, chairman of the board of Sunday schools of the Methodist Episcopal church in submitting his annual report to that board.

"In many instances the whole Sunday school meets in one room," Rev. Albright said in his report. "Such a condition as this is very discouraging to graded work. Just as soon as a school sees its way clear to separate the children according to grades, it is the inevitable result that graded lessons are introduced. The strongest emphasis of the elementary department is upon recognition of the graded principle in Sunday schools."

In speaking of the inefficiency of untrained Sunday school teachers, the report said: "There are many teachers who have not as yet felt the obligation to fit themselves for their work. One needs only to observe such teachers work to realize how essential a trained teacher is if we are to get the best results from any curriculum. We are constantly faced with the fact of the misuse of even our graded materials because teachers have not the method by which those pupils are to be taught. In too many cases the department of superintendents has not grasped the graded principle."

GOVERNMENT RAILROAD

One of Most Difficult Engineering Projects Ever Undertaken Near Completion

ANCHORAGE, Alaska, Feb. 6.—Closing of the last gap between ends of steel on the Alaska government railroad this month marks practical completion of one of the most difficult engineering projects undertaken by the United States government. With the placing in service of the Riley Creek bridge, last unit, with the exception of the steel bridge over the Tanana river at Nenana, through train service will be possible between Seward, at the head of its jurisdiction, to Fairbanks.

Starting late in 1914, swamps, frozen tundra, huge rock boulders, and difficult mountain passes were met and conquered. As a preliminary, engineers who pioneered the work, even built their own ocean docks. They had not even wagon roads to help them. Everything used in construction had to be shipped from Seattle, the nearest point in the continental United States, 1776 miles to the southward.

The railroad was constructed from three operating bases. Seward, on Resurrection bay, the southern terminus of the line; Anchorage, the main operating base at the head of navigation on Cook inlet, 111 miles north of Seward; and Fairbanks, the northern terminus. A spur runs from Fairbanks to Chitana, 22 miles in the north. Construction of the road was delegated to the war department, the actual details being turned over to the Alaska engineering commission. The approximate cost of the line totaled about $50,000,000.

Two old railroads, the Alaska Northern, from Seward to Cook inlet, and the Nenana railroad, running between Fairbanks and Chitana, were purchased as preliminary steps. Seven miles of the latter road, which cost the government $300,000, were used. The Alaska northern was purchased at a cost of $1,157,825.

Only a section of the Alaska northern right of way could be used. After the Spencer summit, 53 miles north of Seward, was reached it became necessary to abandon much of the grade and construct the road anew. From the point where the road entered Anchorage valley, 61 miles from the town of Anchorage, the right of way was blasted out of almost solid rock. To advance the work it was necessary to swing suspension bridges across deep chasms, build trails and wagon roads along high cliffs. Deep snows were battled and rock hills were constructed along rushing streams. In winter materials were hauled across the ice on sleds. When the ice broke

POLAND BECOMING SELF-SUPPORTING

WARSAW, Feb. 6.—Poland is gradually making her place in the world as a self-supporting nation, according to recent reports of allied experts in economics.

Within the last few months the new republic has made rapid strides toward straightening many difficulties. In the opinion of the students of economics, one of the principal factors assisting in a balance in Poland's favor being liquidation of the upper Silesian matter which had been hanging fire for nearly three years, the settlement giving the Poles their own coal and from 10,000,000 to 13,000,000 annually for export.

The population of Poland is approximately 30,000,000.

While the American relief administration continued to feed some 500,000 children in the devastated areas and some of the crowded industrial centers, it is planned to abandon this work altogether in the spring, as, with good crops another season, the experts believe the government and the people will be able to get along without outside help.

The necessity of buying foreign exchange for foodstuffs, a situation which Poland faced from the beginning, has almost passed and agriculturists estimate that, with few exceptions the

RHEUMATISM HAD HIM IN ITS GRIP 50 YEARS

Restored to Splendid Health by Taniae, Well Known Roxbury
Citizen Makes Remarkable Statement to Public

Had Spent Thousands of Dollars
and Tried Every Known Remedy
Without Finding Relief

"Getting rid of the rheumatism at this late day completely astounded me, for I had had it for fifty years and had spent thousands of dollars," was the statement made recently by an Hon. H. H. Hays, well-known resident of Roxbury, Mass., in relating his remarkable experience with Taniae. Mr. Hays has been identified with the people of Roxbury for forty years and is highly respected and esteemed by all who know him.

"This rheumatism got me when I was a lad in my teens and, while I resorted to every known remedy, I kept getting worse as the years went by. For the past few years every bone in my body seemed to be aching, clean to the marrow and my joints would get so stiff and sore that I was unable to bend them. For two years past the pains in my feet and legs were so intense for days at a time that I could not put my feet on the ground. When I did get out I could not walk more than a few steps and I was almost blind at night. The pains finally settled in my arms, shoulders and hands. These two hands were so swollen and hot that I was unable to hold a pen or pencil to write a letter. I couldn't sleep at night, saw no ease or comfort during the day and life was truly a burden.

"Well, I was just about ready to give up the fight when my attention was called to Taniae. How this medicine has done it I don't know, but I do know I haven't an ache or pain, and I believe I can get out there and walk a distance of five miles and make it in record time. To put it all in a few words, I am now in better condition than I have been in a half century. I don't know of anybody else who has better reasons for feeling thankful to Taniae than I have."

Taniae and Taniae Vegetable Pills are sold by every druggist and under the personal direction of a special Taniae representative, by Weight Drug Co., Billerica, Mass.; A. D. Fells, Chicopee, Mass.; Snow's Pharmacy, Concord, Mass.; and by the leading druggist in every town.—Adv.

EVERY MEMBER
CANVASS PLEDGES

Pledges of more than $800 were secured during the every member canvass of All Souls parish, which was conducted by Rev. J. J. Hays, rector, by team of 48 men. The amount secured is in excess of the sum considered necessary to meet the budget of the parish.

At the close of the campaign a luncheon was served in the parish hall at which time the announcements were received with great rejoicing by the members of the team.

PARAMOUNT CLUB
The Paramount club, one of the growing organizations of the city held its annual dance Friday night in the high school hall. The hall was crowded to capacity. The success of the evening was due to the efforts of General Manager Francis H. Hays and his staff. They hope to hold another in the near future.

TWO SISTERS PERISH

Lose Lives in Pond Despite
Heroic Efforts of 12-year-
old Sister

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Feb. 6.—Despite the heroic efforts of their 12-year-old sister, Florence Marie, Bertha, aged 10, and Ella, aged 6, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Charles G. Leonard of Greenwood Plains, Warwick, R. I., were drowned when they fell through thin ice into the water of a surface pond a short distance from their home last evening.

The little girls had been playing on the ice for more than an hour and a half when the thin ice broke under the three young ones. The piercing cries of her sisters, Florence rushed to their assistance, fell into the water and struggled desperately to effect a rescue until she became exhausted. The girls' hysterical cries had attracted the attention of the neighbors, but the three young ones were rescued, but efforts to save her sisters proved unavailing.

MINISTER PAYS TRIBUTE TO POPE BENEDICT

Rev. Percy E. Thomas based his sermon at the First Congregational church last evening on a discussion of the late Pope Benedict, saying that the world is poorer for his death and that he was possessed of unusual qualities of statesmanship, while he stood at the head of 300 millions of Christian people.

Rev. Mr. Thomas said that the chief business of all Christians, Catholics and Protestants alike, should be to comprehend the love of Jesus Christ and that each church is bound to stand for the same. He said that both are useful and both are Christian.

"Throughout the entire war, however, one thing in the pope's conduct was noticeable. He consistently tried to achieve peace. He tried on ten different occasions to stop the war, and there was no man who tried harder to bring it about. He was a great man, whether you or I belong to his church. The world is always the poorer when such men die."

"But this universal interest does not spring from greatness alone. We all admire quality. In Benedict there was quality and very high quality."

"But no matter how little we as Protestants have for the statesmanship of the Catholic church, we all realize that such a thing exists and we all recognize in Benedict a son of man of a high order. When he took office but 20 of the world's governments were represented at the Vatican."

When he died this number had been increased to 51. This increase, accomplished during a difficult period, indicates statesmanship of high quality regardless of how we regard the value of the ends to be served.

"During the war Pope Benedict was in a difficult position. I believe with many that he should have come out fairly with the allies for democracy. However, we should remember that had he done so Benedict would not have had behind him a united people. Wilson had an undivided nation back of him. So did Lloyd George. The pope, however, had to consider the millions of Catholics in Germany who were urging him to come out for the allies. He had to consider the millions of Italians whose sympathies were divided for some time after the war got under way. On the other hand, he was pulled in the opposite direction by the millions of Catholics in America who were strong for the allies. His position therefore was extremely difficult."

NOT AN ARREST IN N. C. TOWN IN 10 YEARS

OCRAOKE, N. C., Feb. 6.—Although this little town about a century and a half ago was the rendezvous of one of the world's most daring and famous gang of crooks—Edward Teach (Blackbeard) and his band—it is today one community which the recent crime wave has not reached. There has not been an arrest here in more than ten years and the crimes of robbery, burglary, theft and murder are absolutely unknown to the population, insofar as they refer to Ocraoke.

John Oneal, after holding office as Justice of the Peace at Ocraoke for eight years, resigned a year or more ago, not having had a criminal case.

PLAN ANNUAL REUNION

St. Michael's Parish Will Hold Reunion in Associate Hall Wednesday

The annual reunion of St. Michael's parish will take place in Associate hall next Wednesday evening, and the five committees which have been working incessantly for several weeks, reports that this year's affair will be the biggest and best in the annals of the parish. Additional impetus is given to the affair since there was no reunion last year and the proceeds of the coming event will be dedicated to the construction of the new school building.

As the number of applicants for admission to the school is far larger than its capacity, which is indicative of the parish growth in the past few years, the quarters are somewhat cramped at present, as no child is denied the opportunity of entering the classes. This leads to the movement for a new and larger school, and a fund is being raised for its construction. Wednesday evening's affair is expected to swell the totals appreciably. Many other affairs will be conducted before the advent of warm weather. This is the first time the Crescent Hill association has assumed the leadership in the arrangements for the reunion, which will present more attractive features than any of its predecessors.

PROHIBITION IS DEBATE TOPIC

The Crescent Hill association of Centralville held its first debate in its quarters in West Sixth street yesterday afternoon, the subject being "Is Prohibition For the Best Interests of the Country?" The debate proved a big drawing card and also of great interest to all present. Thomas Macauliffe, Fred Ducharme and Thomas Garvey, Jr., argued in favor, while the negative side was taken by Thomas English, Frank McCashin and Leo Betregeant. The judges were Fred Burke, Joseph Griffin and Ferdinand DeCourteau, who at the close of the arguments called the affair a draw. It was announced that next Sunday there will be a debate on "Should Dogs Be Muzzled During February, March and April?" The names of the debaters will be announced later.

The opening of the reunion will take place at 7 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, when there will be a special entertainment, program for the children. An exceptionally strong program has been arranged for the adults in the evening, with booths and tables, for refreshments and novelties, and last, but not least, general dancing.

TEN YEARS AS RECTOR

Rev. Appleton Grannis Mentions St. Anne's Church Centennial in Sermon

Putting a great deal of stress on the centennial celebration of St. Anne's church, which will be held two years hence, Rev. Appleton Grannis, pastor of that church, gave an interesting address yesterday morning in which he spoke of his 10 years' work as rector.

The first told of the adoption, just 100 years ago—on the fifth day of February, 1822—of the articles of incorporation that took the first steps toward the formation of St. Anne's parish.

Rev. Mr. Grannis explained that the act of incorporation meant much for the church, for among the incorporators were men who have left their mark in this city. He said that in the first two years of the church 37½ cents monthly was deducted from the pay envelopes of the Boot mill employees for the support of the church. Kirk Root, one of the incorporators of the Boot mill, he told how Dr. Edson came here in 1834 and for three years received his salary from this source. This plan was abandoned and the church became organized on an independent basis.

One of the unusual things pointed out by Rev. Mr. Grannis was that in nearly 100 years the church had only three pastors. Dr. Edson came first, then Dr. Chamber and then the present rector.

The speaker then said that plans should be started to celebrate the centennial and that the church should be free of debt at that time. He estimated the property as worth $350,000. Of the debt there remains but $11,000 on the parish house built in 1914. In connection with this he pointed out that it was fortunate the church members decided to build in 1914, for if they had waited until now, the building would not have been completed.

Mr. Grannis said that in the last 10 years 553 persons have been confirmed in St. Anne's, nearly 700 people have been married by the rector, and a total of 621 people have been baptized, which includes children of the parish or adults baptized at the time of confirmation.

The work of the different organizations was reviewed by the pastor who was able to present figures to show just what work these organizations had accomplished.

In concluding his talk Mr. Grannis said, "I am sure you will feel as I do, that the church stands for something very definite in this community. The church began in an upper room at Jerusalem, in the year 33 A. D. St. Anne's is not the church of any individual. This church stands for reverence, and that reverence is expressed in the sacred ritual of the church. It is to this church that I ask your renewed devotion, your renewed spirit of consecration."

Local Labor Unions May Refuse Wage Reduction

At this time, it was stated today, that the unions will not accept the proposed reduction and that a strike will be ordered in both plants for next Monday morning, at which time the reduction is to go into effect.

It must be understood, however, that there was no strike vote taken at yesterday's meeting, for the Lowell Textile Council is not empowered to call a strike unless the majority of the unions connected with the council so vote. Therefore, special meetings of the various unions will be held between now and next Thursday night and their respective members will be called upon to take a vote to either accept or reject the proposed reduction. On Friday evening at the regular meeting of the council the various delegates will report the doings of their various organizations and if the report shows that a majority of the unions have voted to reject the reduction, then the council will order a strike, which will become effective Monday morning. Local labor leaders who have understood, however, that in the event of a strike being called it will affect only the mills which have posted notices of a reduction in wages.

Saturday afternoon John Hanley, a member of the executive board of the United Textile Workers of America and Joseph P. Conway, president of the Lowell Textile Council, waited upon International President Thomas P. McMahon of the U.T.W. of A. in Pawtucket, R. I., for the purpose of receiving instructions relative to the local situation and also to request Mr. McMahon to come to Lowell and attend the meeting of the Lowell Textile Council. Mr. McMahon was unable to acquiesce to the request of the Lowell men relative to the meeting, for he was scheduled to address a meeting of strikers in the Rhode Island city yesterday afternoon. However, he gave these instructions as to what to do in the proposed reduction and his instructions were submitted at yesterday's meeting.

The Lowell Textile Council will hold its regular meeting this evening, but no action on the reduction will be taken this evening as a summons meeting will be held Thursday night. Tomorrow evening the members of the Ring Spinners' Union will meet in the Lowell Textile Council hall, City Hall avenue and they will vote to either accept or reject the reduction. Similar action will be taken by the Weavers' union, the Slasher Tenders' union and the Boston Union. It was stated today that two-thirds of the members present at a union meeting are required to make a strike vote valid.

It was rumored today that the Massachusetts mills had posted notices of a curtailment in four days a week, but this was emphatically denied by Agent Mitchell, who added that conditions at his mill were the same as they had been for some time and that every department was running full. The Sun got in touch with the agents of all the local cotton mills this forenoon and at every place he was informed that everything was normal and that there was no talk of any proposed reduction in wages.

RESPONDED GENEROUSLY

Lowell's Tag Day for the Unemployed Brought Satisfactory Results

Results of the tag day held Saturday for the benefit of the unemployed show the city responded generously to the appeal sent out through the mayor's committee on unemployment. Cornelius P. Cronin, director of the civic employment bureau, who had charge of the work, said this morning that he expected the total collections to amount to over $2700.

At the present time $1995.87 has been announced, but this is exclusive of checks, reports from societies and certain boxes placed at different points throughout the city. The committee will meet late this afternoon and work upon the returns, but it is thought a full report will not be ready until the end of the week.

The money collected will be deposited in the Union National bank by Rev. Joseph E. Kennedy, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, who is also treasurer of the committee.

A flying canvas was made of the theatres and the high school track meet Saturday night. Attya J. Joseph, Harry and Cornelius J. O'Neill, Harry Hollingsworth and John J. Hayes spoke in behalf of the drive at the theatres. The contributions collected at the Rialto, Strand, Keith's and Opera House amounted to $323.63, while the Merrimack Square and track meet yielded $119.12.

All meetings will be held in the department of commerce.

The local men will remain over for the gathering of the United States chamber of commerce, which will be held in the department of commerce, and Thursday.

Messrs. Wells and Fisher left Lowell last night where, in Boston, they joined other men from New England who had chartered a special Pullman for the journey. They will return Friday.

JOINS DESTROYER FORCE

Chief Machinists' Mate F. J. Raymond Goes to Charleston, S. C.

F. J. Raymond, chief machinist's mate in the United States navy, for the last two years stationed at the torpedo base in Newport, R. I., left Lowell today with his wife and son, for duty with the destroyer force at Charleston, S. C.

Although not a native of Lowell, Mr. Raymond has called this city his home for the past 16 years. In 1906 he married Miss Ella Kerr, daughter of Mrs. William Kerr, who is now living at 62 Race street.

His assignment to the Carolina will be his last in the navy, he expects, as the destroyer which completed his 20 years' service and will be retired.

Mr. Raymond's first assignment was on the Cruiser Albany on which he served four years in China as a machinist second class. While returning to this country on board the battleship Ohio he was promoted to a chief machinist mate.

Shortly after his marriage he was assigned to the gunboat Des Moines and for four years cruised in the West Indies and southern waters.

In 1910 he was transferred to the Schoonmaker, which was designated to Constantinople for personal use of Ambassador Strauss. Following two years' service there he was recalled and in 1913 sent into the destroyer service. During the war he was stationed in the Irish sea. After the armistice he was sent to New London to the submarine base headquarters.

Recently he was ordered to Charleston but has been in this city on a short visit before completing his final trick in the service.

ANNUAL REPORT FOR TOWN OF BILLERICA

The following items gleaned from the Billerica annual town report are of interest to the residents of the town. Town valuation, $7,006,298, an increase of $140,341 in the past year. There were pleasing remarks by Rev. Fr. At the close of the meeting refreshments were served.

ELECTRICAL CONFERENCE AND DEMONSTRATION

A goodly number of commercial men gathered in the local Y.M.C.A. at 3 o'clock this afternoon for the electrical conference and demonstration given by the Edison company. This feature was brought here through the chamber of commerce and the local electrical concerns.

The demonstrations this afternoon pertained to commercial lighting. Tonight the industrial men will gather at 8 o'clock, at which time the demonstrations will be given over to things concerning them. Tomorrow the industrial men will gather at 3 o'clock when the commercial men will meet at 5. There has been a slight misprint in the announcement of dates and the above should be noted.

Three men arrived from the factory at Haverhill, N. J., this morning with complete equipment for the display. The paraphernalia was immediately taken to the Y.M.C.A. and work upon setting it up commenced. The indoor tent, in which the demonstrations are given, was the chief concern after which certain changes were made in voltage in order to get the proper "glow" for the work. It takes quite a while to set up the outfit, which must be tested thoroughly before it is considered in working order. It requires more than an hour to change from the commercial to the industrial equipment.

TRANSFER OF MEN IN CITY DEPARTMENTS

City Engineer Stephen Kearney has received notification from the civil service commissioner that all laborers and clerks employed in the departments now under the control of the board of public service have been grouped under one head and that no longer will it be impossible to transfer men from one department to another without the written consent of the commissioner. The former arrangement of laborers included classification under separate departments, such as water, streets, sewers, etc., but now all are lumped under the public service board and it will be possible to even transfer clerks from one department to another as necessary requires.

MATRIMONIAL

Mr. Jacob George Seal and Miss Ethel Gertrude Harvey were married Saturday evening at 7 o'clock at the residence of the bride's father, the officiating clergyman being Rev. Edward L. Harvey. The bride was maid of honor, and carried a large bouquet of butterfly roses. She was attended by Miss Doris Thibault, while the best man was Mr. Guy E. Harvey. After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride, 542 Chestnut street. The bride's gift to the bridesmaid was a pearl necklace, while the groom's gift to the best man was a pair of gold cuff links. After an extended honeymoon trip to Washington and New York, the happy couple will make their home at 155 Pleasant street.

New Pope Blesses Multitude

Meanwhile Pope Pius XI after waiting for some moments in the Clementine hall, had left for St. Peter's, accompanied by the members of the Sacred college. Arriving at the balcony at the entrance inside the cathedral he raised his hand and bestowed upon the multitude his first public benediction. Then he returned to the papal apartments, although retaining the pope's usual reserved virtual presence until their deaths.

Rumors were circulated last night that a new pope had been elected but it was asserted that out of deference to America, the announcement would be deferred until after the arrival of Cardinal O'Connell at Boston this morning.

Cardinals with whom the Associated Press spoke before the conclave began unanimously expressed a desire that an American member of the cardinalate should reach the Vatican in time to participate in the solemnities. This they said arose partly from the wish that the United States should be represented and also from a desire to compensate Cardinal O'Connell personally for his disappointment in 1911, when he reached Rome a few hours after Benedict was elected.

Prelates and dignitaries of the church were openly discussing last night a report that Cardinal O'Connell, before leaving America had asked his desire (some went even as far as to say an ultimatum) that America be represented in the conclave. It was said there were some financial matters to be arranged, and that Cardinal O'Connell bore a message to the Sacred college, delivery and discussion of which might necessitate postponement of the election announcement.

Cardinal Arellano Rattai, archbishop of Milan, was for several years papal nuncio in Poland, where his discharge of important ecclesiastical functions when the Polish question became acute, earned him the esteem of Benedict XV and the gratitude of Vatican authorities. It was because of this service that the red hat was conferred upon him on June 16, 1921, when a similar honor was bestowed on Cardinal Laurenti.

Cardinal Ratti was born in Desio, Italy, on March 31, 1857. For many years he was librarian of the Ambrosian library and secretary of the Vatican. In this position he remained until the new republic of Poland established official diplomatic relations with the Vatican at which time Ratti was appointed archbishop and was assigned to Poland as the representative of the Holy See.

That country was then torn with the estrangements from religion brought about by the Communist propaganda from Soviet Russia and Archbishop Ratti counteracted the spread of radicalism. He also won the esteem of Polish Catholics by his efforts in behalf of destitute children orphaned by the war.

Cardinal Ratti as the archbishop of Milan presides over one of the most important archdioceses in Italy. The city being a great industrial center, one of its main requirements is that the cardinal shall possess a thorough knowledge of political and social problems. He is big physically and is reputed to have liberal tendencies.

All along the way he received the homage of the attaches who served during the conclave.

Election Publicly Announced

Meanwhile the dean of the cardinal deacons, Bisleti, followed by several cardinals, repaired to the central balcony of St. Peter's from which the elections of scores of popes have been officially proclaimed to the world and solemnly announced to the great crowd awaiting expectantly below.

"I announce to you great joy, the election of the pontiff."

This confirmed to the throngs in St. Peter's square the election which had been indicated by the thin stream of smoke which came from the metal stove pipe projecting from the roof of the Sistine chapel, when the voting papers of the final ballot were burned.

Secretary Hughes completed his presentation at 10:12 o'clock.

The signing was in this order: The United States, Belgium, Great Britain, France, Italy, Japan, The Netherlands, China and Portugal.

The signing of the last of the documents was completed by the American delegates at 10:16 a. m.

To save time, the red wax seals had been affixed previously and conference attaches standing at the elbows of the delegates pointed where each was to write his name.

The final session brought out the largest crowd of the conference. Scores sat in the aisles and stood around the walls. Mrs. Harding, Mrs. Coolidge, Mrs. Gillett and other wives of officials had seats in the boxes.

As the prominent delegates arrived the spectators applauded. Many of the delegates were busy signing autograph albums.

The session was called to order with a prayer by the Rev. William S. Abernathy, pastor of Calvary Baptist church, which President Harding attended.

Amid applause, Secretary Hughes announced that the Shantung treaty between Japan and China had been signed Saturday.

ELECTION TODAY OF TOWN OFFICIALS

The annual election of town officials is being held today in the towns of Dracut and Chelmsford. In both towns the polls opened at 10 o'clock this forenoon and will close at 5 o'clock this evening. The two towns are giving precinct voting its first try-out, and according to many of the townspeople, this mode of choosing town officials is the best ever, for it gives every voter an opportunity to cast his or her ballot without being forced to travel to the Centre part of the town, where heretofore the voting has been conducted.

Both towns have been divided into four precincts. In Dracut the voting places are St. Mary's hall, Collinsville, precinct 1; hose house, Navy Yard, precinct 2; Grange hall, Centre village, precinct 3 and James J. McManis's, precinct 4.

QUICK RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

Get Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards' produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 17 years and calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid livers. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do not contain calomel, but a heating, soothing vegetable laxative.

No gripping is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated, olive colored tablets. They cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action.

If you have a "dark brown mouth" — bad breath — a dull, tired feeling — sick headache — torpid liver — constipation, you'll find quick, sure and pleasant results from one or two of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets at bedtime.

Thousands take them every night just to keep right. Try them. 15c and 30c.—ADV.

LOTS OF BOOZE AT THE POLICE STATION

The collar of the police station was given a thorough clean-up this morning when all the stills, distilling apparatus, empty bottles, and last, but not least, 200 gallons of liquor, valued at approximately $1000, and 60 cases of home brew, were taken outside.

While the home brew was dumped on the ground back of the station, the liquor of higher alcoholic content was thoroughly tested, the poorer grade being consigned to the sewer, and the better sent to the federal authorities in Boston. One large barrel was opened and found to contain the regular old-time whisky, showing 40 proof on the gauge. This, of course, was tickled for Boston. Practically the whole of the liquor squad participated in this very interesting clean-up, assisted by state officers.

The bottles and stills will probably be sold for junk, after the state authorities reach a decision.

COMPLETE REPORT OF TUBERCULOSIS CASES

For the past four or five weeks the local health authorities, assisted by the state board, have been at work on a complete report of all tuberculosis cases reported in Lowell since 1915. A view toward conducting a survey of all cases found to be still within the city. The actual checking up is practically finished and it is believed that the field work will begin on Wednesday of this week.

The work has required a checking up on a mass of detail and a minute comparison of the cases reported and on file in the local board of health office with those on file in the state department. The result has been that now it is definitely shown just how many cases still are in the city. How many have moved out of town and the number who have died.

Included in the survey of the cases found to be still in the city, will be an examination of all children living in the home.

At a later date a clinic will be established at city hall, with experts coming from the state to assist the local authorities in the diagnosis of all lung diseases.

FALLING OFF IN EMPLOYMENT HERE

According to statistics released by the department of labor through its employment survey for the month ending January 31 shows Lowell to be among the 20 cities reporting employment decreases for last month against the previous month. Lowell lost 2.2 per cent.

Industrial classifications showing increases in employment are food and kindred products; leather and finished products; paper and printing; liquor and beverages; chemicals and allied products; metals and metal products other than iron and steel; vehicles for land transportation and miscellaneous industries.

This monthly survey is based on actual figures taken from the larger industrial payrolls of the country, estimates and guesswork thus being eliminated. The statistics upon which the computations are based are gathered each month by the department's special agents in 65 principal industrial centers and transmitted by teletype. In all, 1423 firms each usually employing more than 500 workers, or a total of 1,600,000 are comprised in the survey. On January 31 these 1423 firms had 53,400 more employees on their books than they carried on December 31, which is an increase of 4.2 per cent.

The industries which show a decrease are textiles and their products; iron and steel and their products; lumber and its manufacture; stone, clay and glass products; tobacco manufacturers and railroad repair shops.

Of the cities in this state to show an increase are Springfield, Brockton and New Bedford, while those to report a decrease include Lowell, Worcester, Lawrence, Fall River and Boston.

Lowell shows the greatest decrease of any of the Bay State cities while Boston shows the least.

According to the report the employment conditions fail to give any indi-view avenue. Two officers testified to seeing men gathered about a table in the room and dice being rolled, while another officer, at the rear of the house, saw heard bets being offered and taken. The charge against these men was, being present at a game on the Lord's day, and the following were assessed $500: Joseph Whelan, John J. Frederick, John Ballou, John Barry, Joseph Poulos, Stanley Wald, Adam Kovinsky, Walter Plimley, Walter Rutine, Vincent Puccio, Louis Kauschewski, Joseph Brown and Joseph Banis. Philip Salfonek failed to appear and was defaulted. Two of the men pleaded guilty, but failed no better than their companions.

Eight men taken from a house in Hanover street, Anastasio Pefas, Costas Poulos, Louis Angelo, Nicholas Pamos, James Pagon, George Ragles, Nicholas Secholas and George Contas, were charged with being present at a game on the Lord's day, and their cases were continued until Feb. 14.

Other Offenders

Joseph Nadeau, charged with an illegal sale of liquor, was continued until Feb. 14. David Litvick and Leon Babin, charged with illegal keeping, pleaded guilty and were continued till Thursday for sentence. Demetrios Pappacostas, on the same charge, was continued to Feb. 20.

Barney Fortier, for indecent act, was given four months in the house of correction.

George Georgantzios, Herminia Heroux, George Maria and Wilfred Moreau, charged with illegal sale of cold storage eggs, were continued to Feb. 9 for trial.

Antonio Labranche, charged with robbery from the person of William Roy of money to the amount of $10 and a pocketbook valued at $5, was continued until Feb. 6 and William Robey, for drunkenness and as a witness in the robbery case, was continued until Feb. 13. Bail to the amount of $1000 was fixed in each case.

Daniel H. McMillan, on a charge of threatening, was continued until tomorrow.

Michael P. McDermott was sent to the house of correction for three months for drunkenness. McDermott requested that he be sent to the state farm, instead, and the sentence was changed, but later he was quoted as favoring the original sentence, on reconsideration, so he goes to the house of correction.

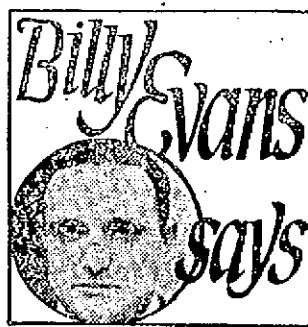

Frank and Sarah Desautel, charged with drunkenness, made their third appearance this year. As it was the man's 13th offence, he was sent to the house of correction for one month, the woman being given a suspended sentence of two months in the same institution, suspended for six months, during which time she will be in the care of the probation officer.

William F. Reegan was sentenced to four months in the house of correction, a former suspension being revoked.

Gerard Goldman, in for drunkenness, was, according to the judge, again beating up his father and mother. It is said that when he was arrested he was chasing his mother about the house with a hammer. He was given one more chance, a sentence of four months in the house of correction, suspended for six months.

Gaston L. Landon, drunkenness, who was released yesterday on a promise he would go at once to his home in Somerville, was sentenced to two months in the house of correction, with sentence suspended 24 hours, that he might go home.

Patrick Bordetean, who was sent away for a week to break him of the drink habit and save his bank account, was sentenced to the house of correction for four months, suspended for six months.

Will Leon Goslin, Washington's recent outfielder, emulate the deeds of Sam Rice?

Goslin is expected to win a regular place in the Washington outfield next season, alongside of Rice and Miller.

Sam Rice came to the American league as a pitcher. He had plenty of stuff and seemed to have a great chance to make good.

Lack of control was his worst fault. In between pitching performances, Rice showed that he could hit and was fast on his feet.

George Dauss of the Detroit club is a poor hitter. Dauss broke ball game one day that had gone extra innings. He hit one of Sam's fast ones for three bases.

Rice is today one of the most valuable outfielders in the game. He can do everything well.

Goslin, who made such a fine debut as a big leaguer last fall, a home run off Cobb that has been talked about as one of his best efforts, is figured as a regular.

Goslin made his professional debut like Rice as a pitcher. In 1920 he won seven games and lost four for the Columbia club in the South Atlantic league.

Ability to hit the old ball caused him to shift to the outfield.

Recognition of the substantial improvement in business activities predicted for January. The figures last month were obtained during the winter period, particularly those in the auto industry.

Textiles and iron and steel which have been on the upward swing for some months past, show a downward tendency in employment for the past 30 days.

According to Francis I. Jones, director general of the U. S. employment service, the feeling that there will be a decided change for the better by early spring is manifested by every section of the country and seems to be based on real evidence of prosperity and not mere optimism.

Expressing opposition to a sales tax or any other levy on consumption, he urged restoration of the excess profits taxes.

taining a better view than any yet evolved.

Deputy sheriffs, municipal detectives and officials of the motion picture company by which Taylor was employed, gathered in the dead director's apartment again, sorting over his letters and documents after a day and night of unusual activities.

Last night, the word went forth that an unnamed motion picture actor had been taken to the county jail for questioning as a "suspect" and that his connection with the case was considered so important that he had been hustled from the motion picture "lot" where he was at work, with such speed that he had not the time to remove the makeup from his face.

At the same time, two other motion picture employees, one a camera man, also were taken to "jail" as possible material witnesses.

The actor later was released, but with instructions to keep in touch with the officers. The men taken as possible material witnesses also were given the freedom.

While these matters were developing, tales came to the police of the alleged possession by Taylor of women's stolen lingerie, and place of which, a pink night robe was reported ed missing from his apartments since his body was found. One witness was said to have stated, but not to the police, that this particular robe bore the embroidered initials of a motion picture actress.

Close upon the heels of these declarations came the report that the police were searching for a drug peddler who, it was hinted, had been through Taylor to make delivery of drugs to an actress. The initials of this actress were said to be the same as those on the night robe reported missing.

Doctor at 82 Finds Mothers Prefer His Formula to New-Fangled Salts And Coal Tar Remedies for Babies

Judgment of 1892 vindicated by world's approval of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, a simple vegetable compound for constipation—So safe thousands give it to babies in arms—Now has largest sale in the world.

WHEN a man is in the 83rd year of his age, as I am, there are certain things he has learned that only time can teach him. The basis of treating sickness has not changed since I left Medical College in 1875, nor since I placed on the market the laxative prescription I had used in my practice, known to druggists and the public since 1892, as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin.

Then the treatment of constipation, biliousness, headaches, mental depression, indigestion, sour stomach and other indispositions that result from constipation was entirely by means of simple vegetable laxatives, herbs and roots. These are still the basis of my Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which is a combination of Egyptian Senna and other mild laxative herbs with pepsin.

Recently new medicines have been brought out for constipation that contain calomel, which is mercury, salts of various kinds, minerals, and coal tar. These are all drastic purges, many of them dangerous, and the medical profession ple want to use them no one can deny them the privilege, but they should never be given to children.

The simpler the remedy for constipation, the safer for the child and for you, and the better for the general health of all. And as you can get results in a mild and safe way by using Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, why take chances with pills and powders and strong drugs, even if disguised in candy? My remedy, too, costs less than most others, only about one cent a dose. A bottle such as you can find in any drug store, will last a family several months, and all can use it. It is good for the babe in arms because pleasant to the taste, gentle in action, and free from narcotics. In the proper dose, given in the directions, it is equally effective at all ages. Elderly people will find it especially ideal.

The formula of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is on the cover of every bottle, and the ingredients have the endorsement of the U. S. Pharmacopoeia.

DENIAL BY VICEROY

Replies to Protests Against
"Policy of Repression" in India

CALCUTTA, Feb. 6.—The action of the Indian government in arresting many hundreds of agitators in the non-cooperation movement and others known as Congress or Khilafat volunteers in consequence of the riots and other incidents which attended the visit of the Prince of Wales to India has evoked several formal protests. The government's attitude is denounced in a protest signed by 150 lawyers at Madras as "a campaign of repression and abuse of the ordinary provisions of the law for political purposes, involving unwarranted and unconstitutional interference with the liberty of citizens."

"We consider," the lawyers asserted, "that the wholesale and unjustifiable arrests and imprisonments of public-spirited citizens for political activities constitute a grave menace to public safety and express our firm conviction that such measures inaugurated in a time of law and order are really subversive to law and order."

Seven leading members of the moderate party in Calcutta have issued a manifesto deploring the initiation of a repressive policy simultaneous with the visit of the Prince of Wales. They declare that coercion is no remedy for political unrest and that a policy of repression will defeat its own end and lead to serious results.

Lord Reading, the viceroy, however, contends that the government policy is not one of repression. Defending that policy in replying to an address presented by the Bengal Mahajan Sabha, he declared that "no greater fallacy exists than to suggest that the government means only to govern by resort to force."

He pointed out that the government was bound to maintain law and order and protect law-abiding citizens and that it became necessary for the government to exercise power and authority to combat intimidation and coercion brought to bear upon persons to force them to take action in which they did not believe.

The viceroy charged that the arrests in Calcutta were in most instances forced upon the government. He asserted that the political leaders had defied the law for the purpose of being arrested and obtaining sympathy. Then, he said, demonstrations are made to force the government to make more arrests.

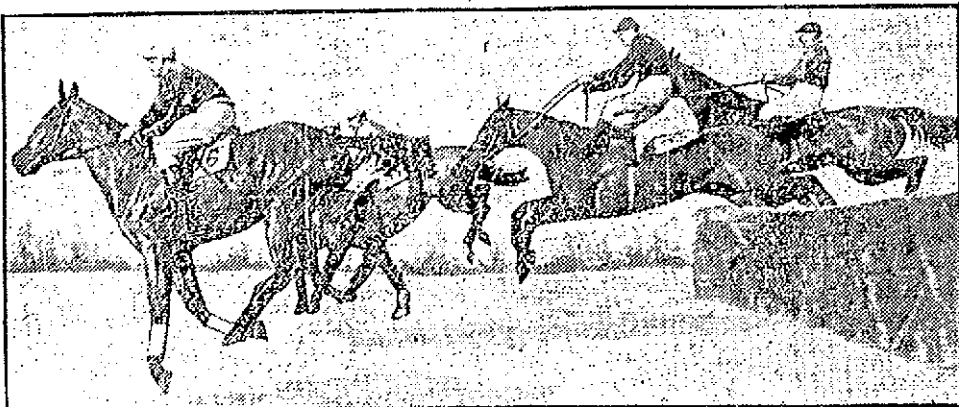

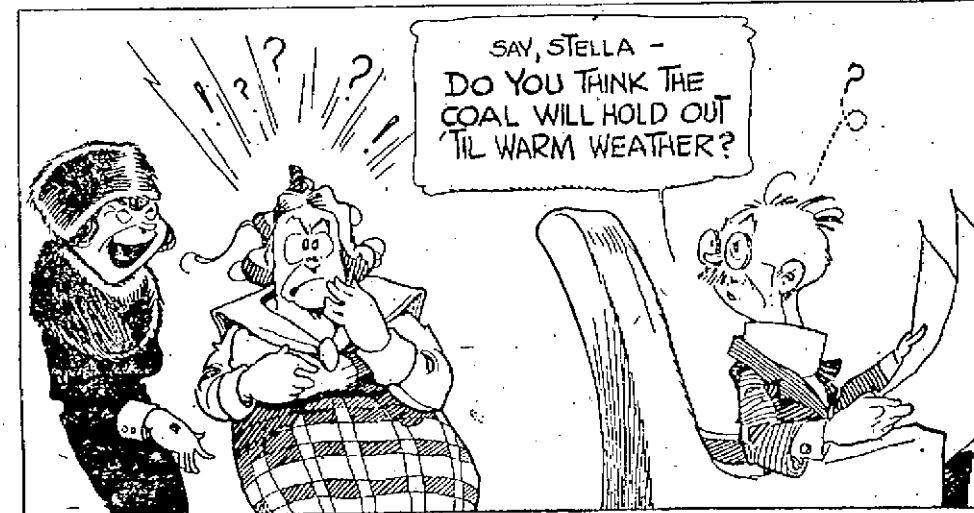

That he said was the situation dispassionately stated. Although he would be sorry to say one word that would increase the state of tension already existing, the viceroy said that the policy of the government in preventing intimidation and unlawful oppression and of enforcing due regard for law must persist.

The viceroy reiterated statements he had previously made that there is no intention by the Indian government to interfere with opposition to the government or with the expression of strong feelings against it, provided that the law is observed.

"The government has never wished to shut out discussion," he asserted. "Quite the opposite. I have on many occasions since I arrived indicated that my government wished to know and remedy legitimate grievances. Nothing that has happened has changed this policy."

The Purity League of St. Petersburg, Fla., has appealed to Mayor F. E. Pulver to issue an order compelling women bathers to wear stockings, sleeves and skirts on the beach. One sentence in the appeal reads, "This league will protect the married men in its membership from the wiles of the sea vamps even if it has to engage its own law enforcers." The above photo was taken at St. Petersburg.

LAWRENCE, Feb. 6.—Sam Baker, who a week ago threw vitriol on his former sweetheart, Miss Ella Silverman, and then attempted suicide died late yesterday in the general hospital here. After his attack on the girl Baker had swallowed a portion of the vitriol and then turned on the gas in his room.

Entering Miss Silverman's room as she lay in bed, Baker threw the acid on her, turned on a gas jet, and left for his own quarters in another rooming house. Miss Silverman, who is 18 years old, is in a serious condition at the hospital. She has lost the sight of one eye and physicians fear she will become totally blind.

William D. Regan Takes
Exception to Statements by the City Solicitor

Former City Solicitor Discusses Question of Aid Under Compensation Act

Former City Solicitor William D. Regan takes exception to the statements of City Solicitor Edward J. Tierney to the effect that there are persons now receiving compensation from the city under the workmen's compensation act, who are not entitled to it and suggests that all the information the present solicitor could desire may be obtained in a 30-minute examination of the card system kept in his own office.

"After he makes that brief examination, I venture to say he will change his mind," said Mr. Regan today.

"The workmen's compensation act and the provisions thereof as applied to municipalities accepting its provisions, is the same in its application to all persons and corporations throughout the Commonwealth," said Mr. Regan today in discussing the statements of Solicitor Tierney on Saturday.

"Regardless of the period of time one is employed by the municipality, if he is a workman, laborer or mechanic, and receives an injury in the course of, or arising out of, his employment, he is entitled to compensation, the amount of such compensation depending upon the period of his disability."

"There has been established in the office of the city solicitor of the city of Lowell, a card system. These cards contain in detail the history of each employee in relation to any accident suffered by him, the date of the accident, the receipt of the injury, the place of the injury, the time of the injury, the period of unemployment, the treatment received, and all other data in connection with the injury and its results."

"Most of the compensation cases on the payroll, when I left office, were cases that payments were ordered by the department of industrial accidents, the state board having jurisdiction of such cases."

"If the present city solicitor believes, as there have been reports in the press, that there are persons now receiving compensation from the city who are not entitled to it, it is my opinion that a 30-minute examination of the records in his department will cause him to change his mind on that subject."

"There frequently arise claims for compensation that are unfounded and should not be honored and undoubtedly one of these cases has been presented to the city for compensation. Without examination of the present city solicitor assumed that there are such cases receiving compensation, but a careful examination of the files in his own department will show him the contrary to be true."

DEATHS

MARRIEN—Mrs. Elizabeth Marrinen, widow of John Marrinen, died Saturday at her home, 50 Fairfield street, after a brief illness. Mrs. Marrinen was born in Portland, Me., February 22, 1837 and came to Lowell when only 10 years of age. She was married to John Marrinen on February 12, 1853, at St. Patrick's church. Mrs. Marrinen was a beautiful character indeed, a fine example of the Christian mother, intensely devoted to her children, in her home and to those subtle things of life which brought comfort and relief to the less fortunate about her. Her was a wonderful personality, a woman of rare intelligence, refined and courteous, a charming conversationalist, who up to the last retained her faculties and tenderly showed her devotion to those near and dear to her. Her charity given in unobtrusive measure, her unswerving loyalty to those hapless souls of life and her interest in the family hearthstone, will remain a fragrant memory of a long and useful life.

DR. MARTIN MORRIS DEAD

Former Lowell Man Dies
at Home in Savannah, Ga.,
After Brief Illness

Dr. Martin A. Morris, formerly of Lowell and the son of Thomas F. Morris of Dracut Centre, died Sunday afternoon at his home, in Savannah, Ga., after a brief illness.

Dr. Morris resided in Lowell with his parents up to a quarter of a century ago, when he removed to Savannah. He was a graduate of the Lowall high school and the American Veterinary college of New York. He was a prominent practicing veterinary surgeon and a former president of the State Veterinary board of Georgia. Just before his death he had been called home because of the illness of his mother, who died just a little over a year ago.

Dr. Morris was a kindly, friendly man and generous to a fault. He was accompanied here by Col. Grayson and many outside his immediate circle of friends also knew the kindness and helpfulness of the man. Though charitable and fond of the golden rule, his body will be buried in Savannah, Ga., and will arrive in Boston at 7:45 Wednesday morning.

Besides his father, one brother, Edward R. Morris of this city, and two sisters, Mrs. John McLaughlin of Rutland, Vt., and Miss Nellie Morris of Dracut, survive.

BIG DAMAGE CAUSED BY FIRE

Thorndike Coal and Grain
Co., Swept by Early Morning Fire

Losses Will Run Into the Thousands—Origin of Fire Unknown

Losses aggregating many thousands of dollars followed the practical destruction by fire early Sunday morning of the grain mill, storage quarters and contents of the Thorndike Coal & Grain company, in Middlesex place, of Thorndike street, after the first call, came the second and then the general for Chief Saunders quickly saw the threatening possibilities of the fire. Practically all of the fire-fighting forces of the city responded, many pieces of apparatus being used to protect surrounding territories which were in great danger from flames and sparks.

The fire is thought to have started near the door of the grain and hay storage building facing the railroad tracks. Freight cars had been unloaded Saturday afternoon and were left within a few inches of the building, as usual, preventing the firemen from easily lighting the flames from that side, until an engine pulled the cars out of the way. It is believed by the firemen that sparks from a passing locomotive may have started the fire.

The police say that for some months past, the owner of the property, David Ziskind, has had officers inspect the buildings every night during the night, complaints having been made about unknown night prowlers hanging about the premises frequently. Many thefts of coal and wood have also been recorded. The premises were inspected Saturday evening and early Sunday morning just before the fire broke out.

Only the finest kind of work on the part of Chief Saunders' men prevented a real conflagration. The apparatus was quick in responding, and there were enough pieces of apparatus present to send to another box alarm from 41, for a small blaze in Manufacture's street, where a hen house was damaged.

The grain storage and warehouse were flooded with water, but the flames had eaten their way into piles of hay, grain and other feed and the blaze was hard to squelch, although the firemen had it in control all the time.

The building where the flames swept is of concrete construction and was erected by the Livingston company about seven years ago, after a fire that destroyed the building which stood on the same spot. Mr. Ziskind took over the Livingston company's business a little more than two years ago, and had conducted it under the name of the Thorndike Coal & Grain company.

"The recall was sounded about 8 o'clock this morning. Although many inconveniences will be suffered by the grain company for a short time, the concern announced this morning that it was 'ready to serve' all patrons with hay, grain and feed, having a large supply on hand in other nearby storages. The company's quarters are now at 15 Thorndike street.

These plans were changed over the week-end. The squadron leader announced that if a success was made here in recruiting men a permanent office would be opened in Lowell which would take in this district.

NEW POPE'S FIRST BENEDICTION

Bestowed From Outside Balcony of St. Peter's—Acclaimed by Great Throng

Blessing Addressed to All Nations and All Peoples of the World

Card. O'Connell Arrived One Hour After New Pope Had Been Elected

ROME, Feb. 6. (By the Associated Press.)—Pope Pius' first benediction after his election was bestowed from the outside balcony of St. Peter's where he was acclaimed by the great throng assembled there, while the troops presented arms. Shortly afterwards, Prince Chigi-Albani, the marshal of the conclave, by order of the secretary of the conclave, issued the following:

"His Holiness Pope Pius XI, while making every reservation in favor of the inviolable rights of the church and the Holy See, which rights he has sworn to defend, has given his first blessing from the exterior balcony overlooking the square of St. Peter's in the special intention that his blessing should be addressed not only to those present in the square, and not only to those in Rome and Italy, but to all nations and all peoples and should bring to the whole world the wish and announcement of that universal pacification we all so ardently desire."

The pontiff, as he proceeded to the central balcony of St. Peter's was escorted by six crinifex bearers holding aloft the pontifical cross.

It was the first time since the reign of Pope Pius IX, that any pope had looked out over the great plaza where pontifical sovereignty ends.

His holiness lifted both hands and spoke a few words, finally bestowing the benediction.

The local newspaper article of January 20, carrying the information that Arcade Building was sold, compels us to take this action.

It will be an event unprecedented in Lowell because of the size of the store and the character and volume of merchandise, and sensational because never before in the commercial history of Lowell, has such an occasion arisen that has to be met with such drastic measures.

Thousands Join in Mighty Cheer as Wisp of Smoke Tells of Election of Pope

Impressive Ceremony After Conclave of Sacred College Reached Decision

New Pope is 65, a Native of Italy and Reputed to Have Liberal Tendencies

ROME, Feb. 6.—(By the Associated Press.)—Cardinal Achille Ratti, archbishop of Milan, was proclaimed elected pope in succession to the late Benedict XV, this morning. He has taken the name of Pius XI.

The new pope was one of the latest cardinals created by the late Benedict. Only six months have passed since he succeeded Cardinal Ferrari as archbishop of Milan.

He has been one of the strongest supporters of Benedict's policy of reconciliation between the Quirinal and the Vatican.

Thousands Cheer Election

The thousands waiting in front of St. Peter's for the wisp of smoke which would tell of the election of the new pope, or the failure of the Sacred college to reach a decision, gave a mighty shout at 11:33 o'clock when a thin wisp of smoke came from the chimney leading from the Sistine chapel. It was then known that the Catholic church had once more a duly elected pontiff.

As soon as the two-thirds vote for Cardinal Ratti had been verified, Cardinal Vannutelli, as dean of the Sacred college, arose and proceeded to the throne of the chosen one, accompanied on either side by Cardinals Logue and Biletti, respectively deans of the cardinal priests and the cardinal deacons. He was asked in Latin by Cardinal Vannutelli in accordance with custom if he accepted the election to be supreme pontiff, and the new pope answered with the formal: "Since it is the will of God, I must obey."

Takes Name of Pius XI

Then the purple canopies over the thrones of the cardinals were let down one by one, until only that over the new pontiff remained. This was done to show that the whole Sacred college rendered obedience to the new head of the church. Dean Vannutelli thereupon asked the new incumbent what name he chose to take during his pontificate, and upon his reply, "Pius XI," Monsignor Sincero, secretary of the conclave, verified his election to the papal chair.

The new pope was then escorted to the anteroom within the Sistine chapel, where he discarded his cardinal's robes, assisted by the conclavists, and the papal vestments, which had been held in readiness since the opening of the conclave, were placed upon him. These included the white cassock, white sash, white stockings, red slipper, a red and gold mozzetta, and finally the stole of red, worked with gold.

Cardinals Adore New Pontiff
The pontiff fully vested in papal garb and accompanied by his cardinals thereupon returned to the throne he had occupied in the Sistine chapel. There the cardinals, according to their rank, and headed by Vannutelli,

A fine of $50 was ordered for one of the prisoners, charged with keeping a gaming resort, and most of the others were released on payment of fines of $5 each. The victims of one of the raids were continued until February 4. The largest assembly appeared in consequence of a raid on a house in Dummer street, known as "The Club" to its patrons. In this case, the manner in which entry was secured, according to the prosecution's testimony, was sensational. Officer Conney being entangled through a window, carrying frame and all with him. ## MEAT CAUSE OF KIDNEY TROUBLE

Take Salts to Flush Kidneys If Back Hurts or Bladder Bothers

If you must have your meat every day, eat it, but flush your kidneys with salts occasionally, says a food authority who tells in their meat forum article which almost paralyzes the kidneys in their efforts to expel it from the blood. They become sluggish and weaker, then you suffer with a dull aching in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or side, headache, dizziness, your stomach, tongue, is coated and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine gets cloudy, full of sediment, the channels often get sore and irritated, causing you to urinate two or three times during the night.

To neutralize these irritating acids, to cleanse the kidneys and flush out the body's uric acid, get four ounces of Epsom Salts from any pharmacy here, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with bicarbonate and has been used for centuries to flush and stimulate sluggish kidneys, and to neutralize the acids in urine, so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder weakness.

Bad salts in the past, cannot improve your kidneys, but this efficient Epsom Salts will do it.

shot upward, the music stopped, and in an instant the place was in an uproar.

Several persons were slightly injured in the crush at the exits. A cool attendant swung open the doors, while Mrs. Grace Holly, the pianist, resumed her playing in an attempt to restore calm. She was the last to leave the building.

A police inquiry to determine the cause of the explosion was begun.

SEC. DENBY COMMENDS SEVEN NAVY HEROES

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—Seven members of the crew of the cruiser Huron, flagship of the Asiatic fleet, have been commended by Secretary Denby for heroism in the rescue of four of their shipmates from a gas-filled flour hold. The next of kin of five others, who died at the same time, have received letters of condolence. The accident occurred last August.

A detail of mess cooks had gone to the flour hold of the Huron to "break out" flour for the bakeshop. Scamman David Mathewson, the first to enter, was immediately overcome by carbon dioxide gas, generated by the fermentation of damp flour.

Seaman John J. Morrill and Anton Huba went to his assistance, but were rendered unconscious by the gas. The entering of a wind sail to a discharge from the ventilating system to carry fresh air into the hold enabled others to reach the men, but not until seaman William Wacher was added to those overcome. Scamman Morrill and Huba died from the effects of the gas.

The men commended were chief water-tender Walter T. Foley, Frederick Munn, sailwright Frank C. Heckler, Pittsburgh; chief electrician Clarence A. Howell, San Francisco; seaman Wesley A. Her, Brooklyn; chief electrician's mate Harry Kramer, Fruitvale, Calif.; chief pharmacist's mate Morton H. Mangold, Lorena, Okla.; and chief machinist's mate William Wacher, Seattle, Wash. Morrill's home was in Rochester, N.Y., and that of Huba in Cantrath, Wis.

TRIBUTE TO DIST. ATTY. PELLETIER

BOSTON, Feb. 6.—Referring to the administration of the office of the district attorney of Suffolk county, Asst. Dist. Attorney Daniel W. Casey, in a speech before 500 members of the St. Alphonsus association, said in part:

"The standard of morality in Boston has been high during the last 13 years because Boston has had at her helm an able and humane man. And when the air of suspicion is cleared and people begin to think with a clearer vision, all will arise and say, 'Well done, thou good and faithful servant.'"

He added that the district attorney's office demands a great deal of judgment, and believed that its occupants should continue to be elected by the people. District attorney he said, usually spring from the people and have rubbed elbows with the people, and therefore know better than judges how to deal with the people. He added that 8000 cases come yearly before the superior court, which can only handle about 7500. Therefore, the district attorney is given a certain amount of judicial judgment. The power of not pros, he said, is a great power for good.

DECREASE IN NUMBER OF AUTO FATALITIES

BOSTON, Feb. 6.—Frank A. Goodwin, state registrar of motor vehicles, announced yesterday that "the first month of the new year shows a remarkable reduction in the number of persons killed in the same month of last year." Continuing, Mr. Goodwin said:

"Last year there were 27 persons killed and this year only 13. This reduction has taken place notwithstanding the fact that 27,000 more cars were registered up to Jan. 31 than last year, and with weather conditions favorable to automobilism."

An analysis of the figures shows that this reduction is entirely among adults. There were seven children killed last year and seven killed this year, while there were 20 adults killed last year and only six this year.

"Another interesting fact disclosed is that the percentage of deaths caused in accidents in the night time is less than last year. In January of 1921, 17 accidents in which fatalities occurred happened in the daytime, and 10 at night, while this year 11 accidents took place in the daytime and only two at night."

"The reason for this extraordinary reduction can be traced perhaps to universal examinations, stricter enforcement by the police against those operating under the influence of liquor, and the new headlight regulation."

$300,000,000 TREASURY HAS DISAPPEARED

SENGIYEV, Russia, Feb. 6.—The $300,000,000 treasury of the Cathedral of the Trinity monastery of St. Sergius has disappeared. Red soldiers now use as a barracks the buildings of what was once regarded as the richest and most famous convent of all the Russians, save possibly that at Kiev. There are but five monks left in the monastery.

Fifteen others have removed a mile and a half distant to the Church of Goltshennine, at Chernogorskaya (Moth-er of God), where they have founded an humble commune and till the soil. The other monks who lived at this vast religious mecca, to which yearly came 100,000 pilgrims, have been scattered.

There are but few pilgrims now to pray before the icon of St. Sergius, the miraculous power of which was supposed by Russians to have saved the monastery from destruction by the French army of invasion in 1812.

The very jewels of the open silver sarcophagus of St. Sergius have been removed or replaced with false ones. It is claimed. Many of the vast treasures of church vessels, mitres and croziers, made of gold and inlaid with precious stones of immense value are missing. It is claimed that the loot from the monastery equalled in value the treasures of gold and silver and stones of St. Peter's, in Rome.

The monks remaining at the monastery show the churches to the few visitors. The monastery is classed as a national soviet museum. No service is held within the celebrated churches. This city, which in pre-war days permitted neither Jews nor soldiers to camp or dwell here, is now full of both. Many of the big merchant stores were burned in July, 1920, as in other cities of Russia, as part of a counter-revolutionary movement. At the same time portions of the lofty outer walls built in the middle ages to defend the monastery, were damaged.

PLEA FOR GRADING OF M. E. SUNDAY SCHOOLS

CHICAGO, Feb. 6.—A plea for the grading of all Methodist Episcopal Sunday schools was made here today by Rev. Roger Albright, chairman of the elementary department of the board of Sunday schools of the Methodist Episcopal church in submitting his annual report to that board.

"In many instances the whole Sunday school meets in one room," Rev. Albright said in his report. "Such a condition as this is very discouraging to graded work. Just as soon as a school sees its way clear to separate the children according to grades, it is the inevitable result that graded lessons are introduced. The strongest emphasis of the elementary department is upon recognition of the graded principle in Sunday schools."

In speaking of the inefficiency of untrained Sunday school teachers, the report said: "There are many teachers who have not as yet felt the obligation to fit themselves for their work. One needs only to observe such teachers work to realize how essential a trained teacher is if we are to get the best results from any curriculum. We are constantly faced with the fact of the misuse of even our graded materials because teachers have not the method by which these pupils are to be taught. In too many cases the department of superintendents has not grasped the graded principle."

GOVERNMENT RAILROAD

One of Most Difficult Engineering Projects Ever Undertaken Near Completion

ANCHORAGE, Alaska, Feb. 6.—Closing of the last gap between ends of steel on the Alaska government railroad this month marks practical completion of one of the most difficult engineering projects undertaken by the United States government. With the placing in service of the Riley Creek bridge, last unit, with the exception of the steel bridge over the Tanana river at Nenana, through train service will be possible between Seward, at the head of Resurrection bay, to Fairbanks.

Starting late in 1914, swamps, frozen tundra, huge rock barriers, and difficult mountain passes were met and conquered. As a preliminary, engineers who pioneered the work, even built their own camp tracks. They had not even wagon roads to help them. Everything used in construction had to be shipped from Seattle, the nearest point in the continental United States, 1776 miles to the southward.

The railroad was constructed from three operating bases: Seward, on Resurrection bay; the southern terminus of the line, Anchorage; the main operating base at the head of navigation on Cook inlet, 124 miles north of Seward; and Fairbanks, the northern terminus. A spur runs from Fairbanks to Chitana, 28 miles to the north. Construction of the road was delegated to the war department, the actual details being turned over to the Alaska engineering commission. The approximate cost of the line totaled about $50,000,000.

Two old railroads, the Alaska Northern, from Seward to Cook inlet, and the Nenana railroad, running between Fairbanks and Chitana, were purchased as preliminary steps. Seven miles of the latter road, which cost the government $300,000, were used. The Alaska northern was purchased at a cost of $1,157,533.

Only a section of the Alaska northern right of way could be used. After the Spencer summit, 53 miles north of Seward, was reached it became necessary to abandon much of the grade and construct the road anew. From the point where the road entered the Anchorage valley, 61 miles from the town of Anchorage, the right of way was blasted out of almost solid rock. To advance the work it was necessary to swing suspension bridges across deep chasms, build trails and wagon roads along high cliffs. Deep snows were battled and rock cliffs were constructed along rushing streams. In winter materials were hauled across the ice on sleds. When the ice broke up ferries took their chances with the swift currents and breaking ice.

Typical of difficulties encountered was the construction of the Susitna river bridge, 1322 feet in length, 150 miles north of Anchorage. During the preliminary examinations engineers found white pines and spruce high up on the trunks of trees, indicating that the ice reached great heights during the spring breakup. Timber or concrete piers would not be able to withstand the heavy crush of ice and flood waters. These conditions led engineers to decide upon a 501 foot span without supporting piers. Building it was another thing, but finally it was completed after almost insurmountable difficulties had been met with and conquered.

The Alaska engineering commission evaluated the system of the builders of the Panama canal, established snail habitations for the 1000 to 3000 men constantly employed, installed modern sanitary arrangements, commissaries for food and clothing and performed all the functions usually falling to the lot of camps and towns that follow private railroad construction. To do this the commission assumed the responsibilities of civil government. At Anchorage a townsite was laid out, streets and sidewalks constructed, electric light plants and waterworks were installed and a hospital was built. Later these facilities were duplicated at other points on a smaller scale.

From the railroad building the commission branched into coal mining, tapping the Chikilasho fields 37 miles from Anchorage, and the coal thus obtained was used both in construction work and for the civilian population of the various camps. In some places sawmills were established.

In 1918 trains began regular schedules between Seward and Anchorage. Tracklaying proceeded rapidly and in advance of expectations until the beginning of construction of the Riley Creek bridge marked the end of grading and actual track work. This was November, 1921.

Work immediately in prospect contemplates standardizing of 54 miles of narrow gauge track between Nenana and Fairbanks and an additional 39 miles to Chitana.

The railroad, it has been estimated, will serve an area of approximately 100,000 square miles.

POLAND BECOMING SELF-SUPPORTING

WARSAW, Feb. 6.—Poland is gradually making her place in the world as a self-supporting nation, according to reports of allied experts in economics.

Within the last few months the new republic has made rapid strides toward straightening many difficulties. In the opinion of the students of economics, one of the principal factors assisting in a balance in Poland's favor being liquidation of the upper Silesian matter which had been hanging fire for nearly three years, the settlement giving the Poles their own coal and from 16,000,000 to 13,000,000 annually for export.

The population of Poland is approximately 26,000,000. While the American relief administration continued to feed some 500,000 children in the devastated areas and some of the crowded industrial centers, it is planned to abandon this work altogether in the spring, as, with good crops another season, the exports will be able to get along without outside help.

The necessity of buying foreign exchange for foodstuffs, a situation which Poland faced from the beginning, has almost passed and agriculturalists estimate that, with few exceptions, the country's own products will meet the requirements. This is expected to relieve the constant drain upon the government treasury which bought flour and other necessities from America and elsewhere and sold them at a loss to the people.

To assist in meeting current expenses an emergency tax legislation has been enacted by the diet, from which a return of something like $5,000,000,000 marks is expected. The regular tax assessment has been readjusted with the aim of bringing in a return which will offset the present depreciated value of the Polish mark and the increased cost of government.

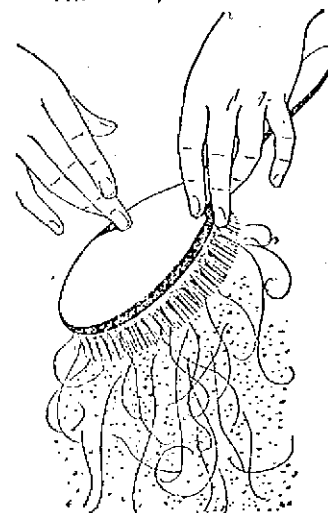

In Lodz, the largest industrial center of the young republic, the cotton mills are operating at about 50 per cent of pre-war capacity and the woolen mills at about 25 per cent. Some of the Lodz textiles are exported to Russia over the Ukrainian frontier.

Ray cotton for the Lodz spindles is one of the principal commodities which the Poles are compelled to buy from the outside, this necessitating purchase of foreign exchange with Polish marks as low as 2000 to the dollar.

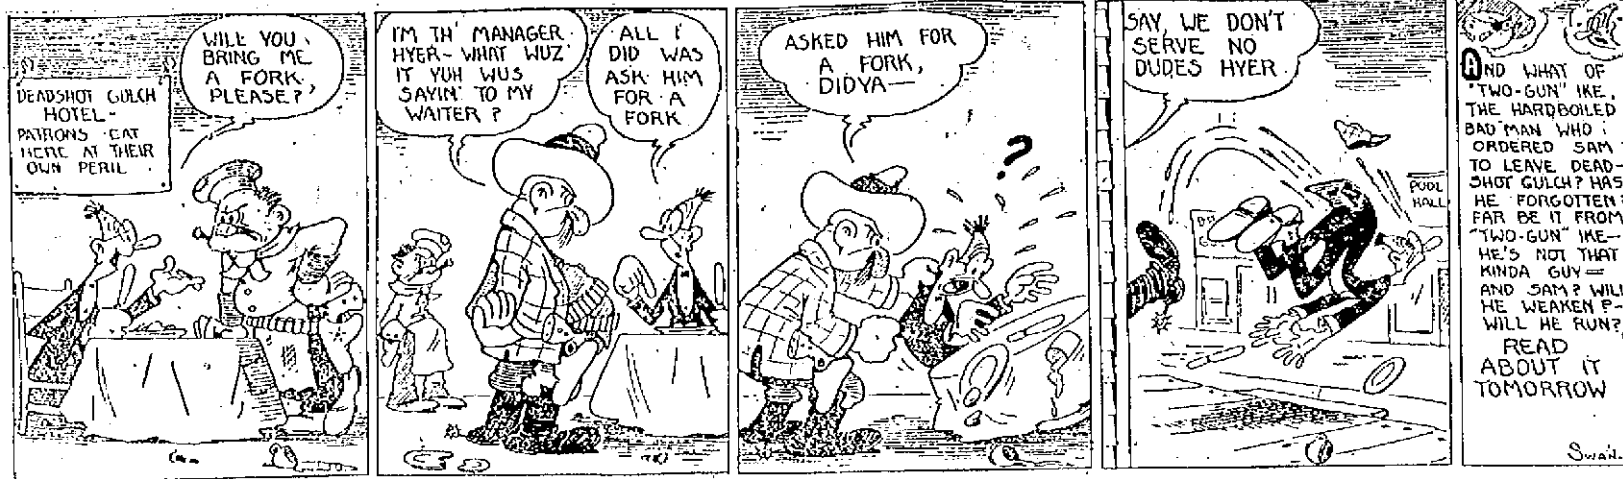

Englishman is said to have invented a mechanical maid of all work.

RHEUMATISM HAD HIM IN ITS GRIP 50 YEARS

Restored to Splendid Health by Tanlac, Well Known Roxbury
Citizen Makes Remarkable Statement to Public

Had Spent Thousands of Dollars
and Tried Every Known Remedy
Without Finding Relief

"Getting rid of the rheumatism at this late date completely mystifies me, for I had had it for fifty years and had spent thousands of dollars," was the statement made recently by William H. Hayes, a well-known resident of Roxbury, Mass., in relating his remarkable experience with Tanlac. Mr. Hayes has been afflicted with the disease of rheumatism for forty years and is highly respected and esteemed by all who know him.

"This rheumatism got me when just a lad in my teens and, while I resorted to every known remedy, I kept getting worse as the years went by. For the past few years every bone in my body seemed to be aching clean to the marrow and my joints were so stiff and sore it was agony to bend them. For two years past the pains in my feet and legs were so intense for days at a time that I could not put my feet on the ground. When I did get out I simply had to hobble along at a snail's pace. The pains finally settled in my arms, shoulders and hands. These two hands were swollen and out of shape. I could not hold a pen or pencil to write a letter. I couldn't sleep at night, saw no ease or comfort during the day and life was truly a burden."

"Well, I was just about ready to give up the fight when my attention was called to Tanlac. How this medicine has done it I don't know, but I do know I have been free of it for a long time. I believe I could get out there and walk a distance of five miles and make it in record time. To put it all in a few words, I am now in better condition than I have been in a half century. I don't think anybody could have better reasons for feeling thankful to Tanlac than I have."

Tanlac and Tanlac's Vegetable Pills are sold by Green's drug store. Write the personal direction of a special Tanlac representative, by Wright Drug Co., 100 North Main St., Boston, Mass., or by the leading druggist in every town.—Adv.

TWO SISTERS PERISH

Lose Lives in Pond Despite
Heroic Efforts of 12-year-
old Sister

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Feb. 6.—Despite the heroic efforts of their 12-year-old sister, Florence Marie, daughter, aged 10, and Mrs. Charles G. Le-rang of Greenwood Plains, Warwick, R. I., were drowned when they fell through thin ice into the water of a surface pond a short distance from their home last evening.

The little girl had been playing on the ice for more than an hour and a half when the double tragedy occurred. Startled by the piercing cries of her sisters, Florence rushed to their assistance, fell into the water and struggled desperately to effect a rescue until she became exhausted. The girls' hysterical cries had attracted three young men to the scene. Florence was hauled ashore and revived, but efforts to save her sisters proved unavailing.

MINISTER PAYS TRIBUTE TO POPE BENEDICT

Rev. Percy E. Thomas based his sermon at the First Congregational church last evening on a discussion of the late Pope Benedict, saying that the world is poorer for his death and that he was possessed of unusual qualities of statesmanship, while he stood at the head of 300 millions of Christian people.

Rev. Mr. Thomas said that the chief business of all Christians, Catholics and Protestants alike, should be to comprehend the love of Jesus Christ and that each church is permanent and cannot be destroyed and that both are useful and both are Christian.

"Why has the world taken such an interest in the death of Benedict? In the first place the world is interested from a purely human motive. No great man can pass away without the event giving rise to universal speculation. The head of an organization composed of 300 million souls must of necessity be a great man and his death therefore must to the whole world be interesting."

NOT AN ARREST IN N. C. TOWN IN 10 YEARS

OCRAOKE, N. C., Feb. 6.—Although this little town about a century and a half ago was the rendezvous of one of the world's most daring and famous gang of crooks—Edward Teach (Blackbeard) and his band—it is today one of the quietest and most law-abiding communities in the South. There has not been an arrest here in more than ten years and the crimes of robbery, burglary, theft and murder are absolutely unknown to the population, insofar as they refer to Ocraoke.

John Gresham, after holding office as Justice of the Peace at Ocraoke for eight years, resigned a year or more ago, not having had a criminal case presented at the vatican. When he died this number had been increased to 31. This increase, accomplished during a difficult period, indicates statesmanship of high quality, regardless of how we regard the value of the ends to be served.

"During the war Pope Benedict was in a difficult position. I believe with many that he should have come out daily with the allies for democracy. However, we should remember that had he done so Benedict would not have had behind him a united people. Wilson had an undivided nation back of him. So did Lloyd George. The pope, however, had to consider millions in the south of Germany who were urging him to come out for the allies. He had to consider the millions in England and also the millions of Italians whose sympathies were divided for some time after the war got under way. On the other hand, he was pulled in the opposite direction by the millions of Catholics in America who were strong for the allies. His position therefore was extremely difficult."

"Throughout the entire war, however, one thing in the pope's conduct was noticeable. He consistently tried to achieve peace. He tried on ten different occasions to stop the war. The pope was always on the side of peace and there was no man who tried harder to bring it about. He was a great man, whether you or I belong to his church. The world is always the poorer when such men die."

There are only one or two homes here that have locks on the doors and the keys to those that are thus equipped have never been used. Most of the houses at Ocraoke were wholly or partially constructed with lumber of ships which were wrecked on the treacherous shoals off the North Carolina coast. Every family here owns their home. Ocraoke is at the extreme southern end of a little island by the same name, located about 30 miles off the mainland of North Carolina, and is unique in many respects. Ocraoke Island, which is part of Hyde county, North Carolina, is a little strip of land about 11 miles long and ranges in width from one-half to one and half miles. The population of the island numbers about 700, about 650 of whom live at Ocraoke. Those who do not live in the little town are members of the families of coast guardsmen, who patrol the coast.

As there are no railroads, automobiles, street cars or theatres where motion pictures are shown, many of the inhabitants at Ocraoke have never seen any of these things. With the exception of the men employed by the United States government as coast guardsmen and the few merchants in the little town, all Ocraokes make their living hunting and fishing.

Every person on Ocraoke Island is a Methodist in religion. They are divided, however, as to the sectional branch to which they belong, about half being members of the Methodist Episcopal church, south, while the others attend the Northern church.

Ocraoke is one of the oldest settlements in America. They are all descended from many historians to be descendants of the "Lost Colony" of Sir Walter Raleigh.

IMPROVEMENT ASSOCIATION
A largely attended meeting of the Ward 8 Improvement association was held yesterday afternoon in the quarters of the Manhattan club with President Joseph Reidy in the chair. The improvements needed in the district were brought to light by Joseph Sweezy and Owen Meardie. Routine business was transacted and it was announced that the next meeting will be held next Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the quarters of the Manhattan club.

Catholic Church News

The Holy Rosary sodality received communion in a body at the Immaculate Conception church yesterday at the 8 o'clock mass, with Rev. Owen P. McQuaid, O.M.I., as a celebrant and Very Rev. Lawrence J. Tighe, O.M.I., assisting in giving communion. The high mass at 11 o'clock was sung by Rev. Martin Norton, O.M.I., and Rev. Fr. McQuaid, O.M.I., preached the sermon. ## PLAN ANNUAL REUNION

St. Michael's Parish Will Hold Reunion in Associate Hall Wednesday

The annual reunion of St. Michael's parish will take place in Associate hall next Wednesday evening, and the live committee which has been working incessantly for several weeks reports that this year's affair will be the biggest and best in the annals of the parish. Additional impetus is given the affair since there was no reunion last year and the proceeds of the coming event will be dedicated to the construction of the new school building.

As the number of applicants for admission to the school is far larger than its capacity, which is indicative of the

PROHIBITION IS DEBATE TOPIC

The Crescent Hill association of Centralville held its first debate in its quarters in West Sixth street yesterday afternoon, the subject being "Is Prohibition For the Best Interests of the Country?" The debate proved a big drawing card and also of great interest to all present. Thomas Maguire, Fred Dieharme and Thomas Garvey, Jr., argued in favor of the prohibition side, while Thomas Egan, Frank McCashin and Leo Bede, argued in favor of the repeal side. The judges were Rev. Burke, Joseph Griffin and Ferdinand DeCourteau, who at the close of the arguments called the affair a draw. It was announced that next Sunday there will be a debate on "Should We Do Murder?" During February, March and April the names of the debaters will be announced later.

parish growth in the past few years, the quarters are somewhat cramped at present, and no child is denied the opportunity of entering the classes. This leads to the movement for a new and larger school, and a fund is being raised for its construction. Wednesday evening's affair is expected to swell the totals appreciably. Many other affairs will be conducted before the advent of spring weather, to bring the fund to the necessary size. Rev. Francis J. Mullin has assumed the leadership in the arrangements for the reunion, which will present more attractive features than any of its predecessors.

The opening of the reunion will take place at 4 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, when there will be a special entertainment program for the children. An exceptionally strong program has been arranged for the adults in the evening, with booths and tables for refreshments and novelties, and last, but not least, general dancing.

The officers for the reunion are as follows: General manager, John P. White; assistant general manager, James Mullin; floor director, Thomas A. Heath; assistant floor director, Martin Cordingle; chief aid, Miss Frances Foley; aids, John J. Coughlin, Joseph Riley, James P. Loftus, Miss Belle Roark, Mrs. Alice Coughlin and Miss Margaret Eart. Program committee: Rev. Francis J. Mullin, treasurer; Bernard Judge and Joseph Cullen.

Auto committee: Rev. Francis J. Mullin, chairman; John J. Coughlin, Joseph Riley, Thomas A. Heath and John P. White.

Committee on tickets at auto show: William Flannery, chairman; Thomas Heath, assistant chairman; Fish pond and novelty table: Patrick Elvin, chairman.

Tonic table: John J. Flannery, chairman; Richard Blinckorn, assistant chairman, and Matthew McCaffrey, second assistant chairman. Mrs. George Kelle will be in charge of the punch bowl.

Sales table: Mrs. Austin P. Kennedy, chairman.

Ice cream table: Margaret Lynch, chairman. Committee on correspondence: Grace Thomas, chairman.

FIRE IN AUTO TRUCK

A portion of the fire department was called by telephone to the corner of Eighth and Methuen streets at 10:15 o'clock this forenoon for a slight blaze in an automobile truck owned by Strick & Son.

TEN YEARS AS RECTOR

Rev. Appleton Grannis Men-tions St. Anne's Church Centennial in Sermon

Putting a great deal of stress on the centennial celebration of St. Anne's church, which will be held two years hence, Rev. Appleton Grannis, pastor of that church, gave an interesting address yesterday morning in which he spoke of his 10 years' work as rector.

His first told of the adoption, just 100 years ago—on the fifth day of February, 1822—of the articles of incorporation that took the first steps toward the formation of St. Anne's parish.

Rev. Mr. Grannis explained that the net of incorporation meant much for the church, for among the incorporators were men who have left their mark in this city. He said that in the first two years of the church 3 1/2 cents monthly was deducted from the pay envelopes of the boat mill employees for the support of the church. Kirk Boott, one of the incorporators of the boat mill, told how Dr. Edison came here in 1824 and for three years received his salary from this source. This plan was abandoned and the church became organized on an independent basis.

One of the unusual things pointed out by Rev. Mr. Grannis was that in nearly 100 years the church had only three pastors. Dr. Edison came first, then Dr. Chamber and then the present rector.

The speaker then said that plans should be started to celebrate the centennial and that the church should be free of debt at that time. He estimated the property as worth $350,000. Of the debt there remains but $11,000 on the parish house built in 1844. In connection with this he pointed out that it was fortunate the church members decided to build in 1844, for if they had waited until now, the building would not have been completed.

Mr. Grannis said that in the last 10 years 523 persons have been confirmed in St. Anne's, nearly 700 people have been married by the rector, and a total of 621 people have been baptized, which includes children of the parish or adults baptized at the time of confirmation.

The work of the different organizations was reviewed by the pastor who was able to present figures to show just what work these organizations had accomplished.

In concluding his talk Mr. Grannis said he is sure you will feel that the church is doing for something very definite in this community. The church began in an upper room at Jerusalem, in the year 33 A. D. St. Anne's is not the church of any individual. This church stands for reverence, and that reverence is expressed in the ritual of the church. It is to this church that I ask your renewed devotion, your renewed spirit of consecration.

Local Labor Unions May Refuse Wage Reduction

at this time. It was stated today, that the unions will not accept the proposed reduction and that a strike will be ordered in both plants for next Monday morning, at which time the reduction is to go into effect.

It must be understood, however, that there was no strike vote taken at yesterday's meeting, for the Lowell Textile Council is not empowered to call a strike unless the majority of the unions connected with the council so vote. Therefore, special meetings of the various unions will be held between now and next Thursday night and their respective members will be called upon to take a vote to either accept or reject the proposed reduction. On Friday evening at the regular meeting of the council the various delegates will report the findings of their various organizations and if the report shows that a majority of the unions have voted to reject the reduction, then the council will order a strike, which will become effective Monday morning. Local labor leaders wish it understood, however, that in the event of a strike being called it will affect only the mills which have posted notices of a reduction in wages.

Saturday afternoon John Hanley, a member of the executive board of the United Textile Workers of America and Joseph E. Jemery, president of the Loomfixers' union, waited upon International President Thomas F. McLaughlin of the U.T.W. of A. in Pawtucket, R. I., for the purpose of receiving instructions relative to the local situation. They then proceeded to Lowell to come to Lowell and attend the meeting of the Lowell Textile Council. Mr. McLaughlin was unable to acquiesce to the request of the Lowell men, relative to the meeting, for he was scheduled to address a meeting of strikers in the Rhode Island for the following afternoon. However, he gave them instructions as to what to do on the proposed reduction and his instructions were submitted at yesterday's meeting.

The Loomfixers' union will hold its regular meeting this evening, but no action on the reduction will be taken this evening as a quorum meeting will be held Thursday night. Tomorrow evening the members of the King Splinter Fixers' union will meet in Loomfixers' hall, City Hall avenue and they will vote to either accept or reject the reduction. Similar action will be taken by the Weavers' union, the Shaver Tenders' union and the Loomers' unions between now and Thursday night. It was stated today that two-thirds of the members present at a union meeting are required to make a strike vote valid.

It was rumored today that the Massachusetts mills have been on a curfew to four days a week, but this was emphatically denied by Agent Mitchell, who added that conditions at his mill were the same as they had been for some time and that every department was running full. The Sun got in touch with the agent of all the local cotton mills this forenoon and at every place he was informed that everything was normal and that there was no talk of any proposed reduction in wages.

RESPONDED GENEROUSLY

Lowell's Tag Day, for the Unemployed Brought Satisfactory Results

Results of the tag day held Saturday for the benefit of the unemployed show the city responded generously to the appeal sent out through the mayor's committee on unemployment. Cornelius P. Cronin, director of the civil employment bureau, who had charge of the work, said this morning that he expected the total collections to amount to over $2700.

At the present time $1995.37 has been announced, but this is exclusive of checks, reports from societies and certain boxes placed at different points throughout the city. The committee will meet late this afternoon and work upon the returns, but it is thought a full report will not be ready until the end of the week.

The money collected will be deposited in the Union National bank by Rev. Joseph E. Kennedy, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, who is also treasurer of the committee.

A flying canvass was made of the theatres and the high school track meet Saturday night. Atty. J. Joseph Henry and Cornelius J. O'Neill, Harry Hollingsworth and John J. Haynes spoke in behalf of the drive at the theatres. The contributions collected at the Rialto, Strand, Keith's and Opera House amounted to $320.63, while the Merchants Square and track meet yielded $119.42.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE MEN IN WASHINGTON

Secretary Wells of the chamber of commerce and President Fisher of the board of directors of that organization arrived in Washington, D. C., today to attend a conference of New England executive men called at the instance of Herbert Hoover. Two conferences will be held, one today and one tomorrow, during which time the men will talk over problems, which are giving more or less bother. All meetings will be held in the department of commerce.

The local men will remain over for the gathering of the United States chamber of commerce, which will be held at the department of commerce, Washington. These gatherings will be held on Wednesday and Thursday.

Messrs. Wells and Fisher left Lowell last night where, in Boston, they joined other men from New England, who had chartered a special Pullman for the journey. They will return Friday.

JOINS DESTROYER FORCE

Chief Machinists' Mate F. J. Raymond Goes to Charleston, S. C.

F. J. Raymond, chief machinists' mate in the United States navy, for the last two years stationed at the torpedo base in Newport, R. I., left Lowell today with his wife and son, for duty with the destroyer force at Charleston, S. C.

Although not a native of Lowell, Mr. Raymond has called this city his home for the past 15 years. In 1905 he married Miss Ella Kerr, daughter of Mrs. William Kerr, who is now living at 62 Race street.

His assignment to the Carolinas will be his last in the navy, he expects, as he will be completing his 20 years' service and will be retired.

Mr. Raymond's first assignment was on the Cruiser Albany on which he served four years in China as a machinist second class. While returning to this country on board the battleship Ohio he was promoted to a chief machinist mate.

Shortly after his marriage he was assigned to the gunboat Des Moines and for four years cruised in the West Indies and southern waters.

In 1910 he was transferred to the Scorpion, which was delegated to Casco Bay, Me., to prevent the use of Ambassadors Strains. Following two years' service there he was recalled and in 1912 sent into the destroyer service. During the war he was stationed in the Irish sea. After the armistice he was sent to New London to the submarine base headquarters.

Recently he was ordered to Charleston but has been in this city on a short visit before completing his final trick in the service.

ANNUAL REPORT FOR TOWN OF BILLERICA

The number of horses assessed is 261; cows, 724; sheep, 6; neat cattle, other than cows, 123; swine, 244; dwellings assessed, 3105; acres of land, 15,407; cow, 4175; residents assessed on property, 1259; non-residents assessed on property, 2512; polls assessed, 1429. The rate of taxation last year was $29 and it will probably be around that figure this year if the recommendations of the finance committee are adopted.

There were 36 births recorded in Billerica during the past year while the deaths in the town numbered 81 in the same period. There were 50 marriages. The number of dogs licensed was 274. The fire department statement shows that there were 22 alarms for fire in the 12 months that closed on Dec. 31. The bell alarms tallied 67 while there were 32 still alarms. Sixty-two of these fires were brush, dump and grass fires, while there were 25 building conflagrations. The value of property destroyed was $2,115, and the loss on the same amounted to $11,581.

SPECIAL COMMITTEE ON INVENTORY

The special committee on inventory, appointed by the board of public service to make a thorough survey of the water, engineering and street departments, will present its report of the water department properties to the board at its meeting, tomorrow afternoon.

ELECTRICAL CONFERENCE AND DEMONSTRATION

A goodly number of commercial men gathered this afternoon for the electrical conference and demonstration given by the Edison company. This feature was brought here through the chamber of commerce and the local electrical concerns.

The demonstrations this afternoon pertained to commercial lighting. Tonight the industrial men will gather at 8 o'clock, at which time the demonstrations will be given over to things concerning them. Tomorrow the industrial men will gather at 3 o'clock while the commercial men will meet at 8. There has been a slight mixup in the announcement of dates and the above should be noted.

Three men arrived from the factory at Harrison, N. J., this morning with complete equipment for the display. The paraphernalia was immediately taken to the Y.M.C.A. and work upon setting it up commenced. The indoor tent, in which the demonstrations are given, was the chief concern after which certain changes were made in "voltage" in order to get the proper "juice" for the work.

While to set up the outfit which must be tested thoroughly before it is considered in working order. It requires more than an hour to change from the commercial to the industrial equipment.

TRANSFER OF MEN IN CITY DEPARTMENTS

City Engineer Stephen Kearney has received notification from the civil service commission that all laborers and clerks employed in the departments now under the control of the board of public service have been grouped under one head and that no longer will it be impossible to transfer men from one department to another without the written consent of the commission.

The former arrangements of laborers included classification under street sweeper, janitor, water, sewer, etc., but now all are lumped under the public service board and it will be possible to even transfer clerks from one department to another as necessity requires.

After the ceremony a honeymoon trip to Washington and New York, the happy couple will make their home at 156 Pleasant street.

A pretty wedding took place this morning when Mr. Herve L. Drapery, son of Contractor and Mrs. William Drapery and Miss Marie Drapery were united in holy matrimony. The ceremony was performed at a nuptial mass celebrated in the private chapel of St. Joseph's rectory at 8 o'clock, the officiating clergyman being Rev. Guillaume Ouellette, O.M.I. The bride was attired in tulle and satin and carried a bouquet of white roses. She was given away by her father, Mr. Felix Lafitte, who was a brother of the groom. Mr. William Drapery, at the close of the ceremony a brief reception was held at the home of the groom's parents, 17 Mt. Washington street, followed by a wedding breakfast. Assisting the happy couple in the receiving line were a brother of the groom, Mr. Lucien Drapery and Miss Gertrude Barry of Marblehead, who acted as best man and bridesmaid respectively. Attending the festivities from out of town were Miss Gertrude Barry of Marblehead, Mrs. George A. Marquette of California, Miss Bertha Lafitte of Chicago and Mr. Raymond Drapery of Worcester. At noon Mr. and Mrs. Drapery, who were the recipients of numerous wedding gifts left on a two weeks' honeymoon trip to Boston, New York and Washington and upon their return they will make their home at 17 Mt. Washington street.

the water, engineering and street departments, will present its report of the water department properties to the board at its meeting, tomorrow afternoon.

Takes Name of Pius XI

made their first act of adoration to His Holiness, kissing first his feet and then his hands, after which the pope received them in embrace and bestowed upon them his first apostolic benediction.

The "fisherman's ring" was placed on his finger and he left the chapel, the whole assembly wending its way through the Sala Ducale and the Sala Regia, along the Loggia in the Sala Clementina, the pope's official residence. All along the way he received the homage of the attaches who served during the conclave.

Election Publicly Announced

Meanwhile the dean of the cardinal deacons, Bisselli, followed by several cardinals, repaired to the central balcony of St. Peter's from which the elections of scores of popes have been officially proclaimed to the world and solemnly announced to the great crowd awaiting expectancy below.

"I announce to you, great joy, the election of the pontiff."

"This confirmed to the throngs in St. Peter's square the election which had been indicated by the thin stream of smoke which came from the metal stove pipe projecting from the roof of the Sistine chapel, when the voting papers of the final ballot were burned."

New Pope Blesses Multitude

Meanwhile Pope Pius XI after waiting for some minutes in the Clementine hall, had left for St. Peter's, accompanied by the members of the Sacred college. Arriving at the balcony at the entrance inside the cathedral he raised his hand and bestowed upon the multitude his first public benediction. Then he returned to the Vatican, where, although reigning, the popes have remained virtual prisoners until their deaths.

Rumors were circulated last night that a new pope had been elected but it was asserted that out of deference to America, the announcement would be deferred until after the arrival of Cardinal O'Connell of Boston this morning.

Cardinals with whom the Associated Press spoke before the conclave began unanimously expressed a desire that an American member of the cardinalate should reach the Vatican in time to participate in the solemnities. This they said arose partly from the wish that the United States should be represented and also from a desire to compensate Cardinal O'Connell personally for his disappearance in 1918, when he reached Rome a few hours after Benedict was elected.

Prelates and dignitaries of the church were openly discussing last night a report that Cardinal O'Connell, before leaving America had cabled his desire (some went even so far as to say an ultimatum) that America be represented in the conclave. It was said there were some financial matters to be arranged, and that Cardinal O'Connell bore a message to the Sacred college, delivery and discussion of which might necessitate postponement of the election announcement.

New Pope is 65

Cardinal Archille Ratti, archbishop of Milan, was for several years papal nuncio in Poland, where his discharge of important ecclesiastical functions when the Polish question became acute earned for him the esteem of Benedict XV and the gratitude of Vatican authorities. It was because of this service that the pope had conferred upon him on June 15, 1921, when a similar honor was bestowed on Cardinal Laurenti.

Cardinal Ratti was born in Desio, Italy, on March 31, 1857. For many years he was librarian of Ambrosian library and archives and Milan. Later he became librarian of the Vatican. In this position he remained until the new republic of Poland established official diplomatic relations with the Vatican at which time Ratti was appointed archbishop and was assigned to Poland as the representative of the Holy See.

That country was then torn with the entanglements from religious brought about by the Communist propaganda from Soviet Russia and Archbishop Ratti counteracted the spread of radicalism. He also won the esteem of Polish Catholics by his efforts in behalf of destitute children orphaned by the war.

Cardinal Ratti is the archbishop of Milan presides over one of the most important archdioceses in Italy. The city being a great industrial center, one of its main requirements is that the cardinal shall possess a thorough knowledge of political and social problems. He is big physically and is reputed to have liberal tendencies.

BOXING

With the Crescent A. A. completing its three weeks' lease on the Crescent rink, the Moody club will come back into the limelight with a show on next Thursday night that is sure to be one of the best of the season.

In the main event Billy Murphy, the fighting Irishman from Staten Island, will clash with Mickey Travers, New England's sensational featherweight, in a match of ten rounds at 125 pounds.

Both Travers and Murphy have agreed to win on the scales at three o'clock on the afternoon of the bout, and already word from the rival managers says the principals will be at the required weight.

This is a very important bout for both fighters and needless to say they are diligently training to be at their best when the bell rings.

Murphy has not appeared here this season, but a little more than a year ago he came here and fought in his thrilling bout against Billy Fitzsimmons. These battles will be recalled by all who sat around the ring's edge at that time, and the fact that he is a couple of years older, but has been even in the two numbers.

With the Old Time Diamond Heroes

The poets and bards have sung of the old-time heroes of the diamond. All have been good to listen to, but the following is a poem dealing with one of the old-time heroes in Lowell well known as an athlete in days gone by.

OLD TIME ALBERT ALIARD

Classics of the Diamond

Frank Chance when managing the Chicago Cubs and winning pennants in the National league was known as the "Peerless Leader."

When he shifted from the Cubs to the Yankees in the American league, the title of course went with him.

The ball club that was handed over to Chance to represent New York in the American league was far from a strong one. No manager could have done any better with it than did Chance.

One of the players who was expected to shine for Chance was Birdie Cree. The previous year he had gone big and Chance looked for him to be one of his best bets.

Cree had a tough year. He got away to a poor start and had luck pursued him all year.

The failure of Cree to show as well as a number of other players, highly touted, didn't add any lustre to Chance's record as a manager. One day after Cree had struck out with the bases filled, Chance was ready to commit murder. As Cree reached the Yankee dugout, Chance ready to explode, fairly yelled:

"So you're the great Cree. You haven't showed me a thing."

"That also goes for you as the Peerless Leader," Cree replied. "The disappointment is mutual."

You can imagine what Chance said.

Today's Sport Angle

It is beginning to look as if college athletics are due for a cleanup.

The recent articles by Coach Beck of Notre Dame and Yost of Michigan on the means of professionalizing college athletics have caused a number of institutions have been harping professional athletes, according to the amateur code laid down by the colleges.

It is beginning to look as if the rules governing professionalism were all wrong. Certainly they have caused the athletes to protest.

Years ago in all college examinations the students were closely watched while preparing. Their answers to those days were much "cribbing" on the part of the students. Knowing they were being closely watched, the student was constantly trying to put something over.

Then a majority of the colleges decided the honor system was the thing. After announcing the examination, the professor in charge would leave the room. The students were placed on their honor. Under such a system cheating in the classroom is a rarity. The eligibility rules of most of the colleges as to their athletes are the old-time examinations. Every rule ties the athlete up closely. It places a premium on cheating. A lot of the athletes in the colleges who have made this life, the athletes and Notre Dame men did it.

It looks as if the honor system would get much better results in the future than the present one. Certainly a change must be made. Undoubtedly a majority of the colleges have athletes who have attended the Illinois and Notre Dame men did it.

SAM JONES OF YANKEES OWES MUCH OF HIS FAME TO FACT THAT HE HAS PITCHED INTELLIGENTLY

JONES HAS A REASON FOR EVERY PITCH HE MAKES

By HILLY EVANS

Who is the smartest pitcher in the American league?

There are a lot of pitchers in both major leagues who use their head as well as their arm.

Recently I asked Nick Atrock, a great pitcher in the American league, for a moment's thought.

I figured that query would make Nick do some tall thinking, but to my surprise he answered:

"Sam Jones is the wisest guy in the American league."

For a moment Nick had me on the ropes. After working the question over in my mind, I decided that Nick knew something besides throwing.

Sam Jones is one of the best pitchers in the American league. He has a head as well as an arm.

There is a reason for every ball he pitches. Sam Jones is something besides a mere thrower.

His progress has been slow. His arm has been so gradual that it has escaped a lot of the publicity a fellow gets who has greatness thrust on him.

Sam Jones is at the top of his game right now. He should be a tough fellow to beat this season with the New York Yankees.

With real slugging.

Carriann was right.

The success that Jones has achieved calls to mind a conversation I had with Bill Carriann a number of years ago. Carriann was then managing the Boston Red Sox.

A trade had been made with Cleveland whereby the Indians secured Speaker, the big star of the Red Sox.

Carriann was right.

Pitcher Sam Jones and a recruit infielder and a lot of money.

The trade was the laugh of the baseball world as far as talent was concerned. One of the things that Carriann insisted on was that Boston secure Sam Jones as one of the players. Jones was then an unknown youngster. Most of the critics were surprised over Carriann's insistence on Jones.

Early in the spring I mentioned this fact to Carriann. He merely laughed and replied:

"Jones has made good."

He has a fine delivery and a good curve ball. When he knows how to pitch, and he should soon learn as he is a bright fellow, he is going to win a lot of bull games. Some day he is able to be as valuable as Speaker."

Bill Carriann certainly was a wise
guy. Jones has fulfilled his prophecy and is now one of the best pitchers in the American league.

It was interesting for me to read the game's greatest pitchers, gave on the compliment Mays paid Jones.

make a great pitcher. Mathewson was great because he had all three."

Replies to Protests Against

"Policy of Repression" in India

CALCUTTA, Feb. 6.—The action of the Indian government in arresting many hundreds of agitators in the non-cooperation movement, and others known as Congress or Khilafat volunteers in consequence of the riots and other incidents which attended the visit of the Prince of Wales to India has evoked several formal protests. The government's attitude is denounced in a protest signed by 15 lawyers at Madras in a campaign of repression and imprisonment of public-spirited citizens for political activities constitute a grave menace to public safety and express our firm conviction that such measures inaugurated in a time of law and order are really subversive to law and order.

Seven leading members of the moderate party in Calcutta have issued a manifesto deploring the initiation of a repressive policy simultaneous with the visit of the Prince of Wales. They declare that coercion is no remedy for political unrest and that a policy of repression will defeat its own end and lead to serious results.

QUICK RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

Get Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards' produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 17 years and calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid livers. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do not contain calomel, but a healing, soothing vegetable laxative.

No gripping is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated, olive colored tablets. They cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action.

If you have a "dark brown mouth" and breath—a dull, tired feeling—rickety headache—torpid liver—constipation, you'll find quick, sure and pleasant results from one or two of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets at bedtime.

Thousands take them every night just to keep right. Try them. 15c and 50c—Adv.

LOTS OF BOOZE AT THE HUNT N. Y. MAN

POLICE STATION

The cellar of the police station was given a thorough clean-up this morning, when all the stills, distilling apparatus, empty bottles, and vast but not least, 200 gallons of liquor, valued at approximately $1000, and 30 cases of home brew, were taken outside.

While the home brew was dumped on the ground back of the station, the liquor of higher alcoholic content was thoroughly tested, the poorer grade being consigned to the sewer, and the better sent to the federal authorities in Boston. One large barrel was opened and found to contain the reported old-time whisky, showing 105 proof on the gauge. This, of course, was whisked for Boston. Practically the whole of the liquor squad participated in this very interesting clean-up, assisted by state officers.

The bottles and stills will probably be sold for junk, after the state authorities reach a decision.

COMPLETE REPORT OF TUBERCULOSIS CASES

For the past four or five weeks the local health authorities, assisted by the state board, have been at work on a complete report of all tuberculosis cases reported in Lowell since 1915, with a view toward conducting a survey of all cases found to be still within the city. The actual checking up is practically finished and it is believed that the final report will begin on Wednesday of this week.

The work has required a minute comparison of the cases reported and on file in the local board of health office with those on file in the state department. The result has been that now it is definitely shown just how many cases still are in the city, how many have moved out of town and the number who have died.

Included in the survey of the cases found to be still in the city, will be an examination of all children living in the home.

At a later date a clinic will be established at city hall, with experts coming from the state to assist the local authorities in the diagnosis of all lung diseases.

Eight men taken from a house in Tenney street, Anastosores, Mass., George Poulos, Louis Angelo, Nicholas Poulos, James Poulos, George Ragios, Nicholas Scholichs and George Contres, were charged with being present at a game on the Lord's day, and their cases were continued until Feb. 14.

THREE STILLS SEIZED IN TYNGSBORO

Chief Harry E. Holt and Officer James Guthrie, of the Tyngsboro police, assisted by Federal Officers Sheldon and Bowers, of this city, conducted a raid on the old Cummings place in the town yesterday afternoon and seized three large stills, 25 gallons of moonshine, which were in operation, 1700 gallons of strong mash, 25 barrels, five three-burner oil stoves, one 10-gallon empty keg, two five-gallon empty kegs, one four-gallon jug, two three-gallon jugs, two one-gallon empty cans, 50 feet of rubber hose and other equipment, which was taken to an up-to-date moonshine distillery.

The officers gained an entrance into the house via the cellar window, and in the midst of the elaborate paraphernalia they found David Litvick, of 105 Chestnut street, this city, and Leon Manatky of Lynn. Both were placed under arrest. The prisoners as well as the stills and other paraphernalia were sent to the police station. Litvick, so it is claimed, informed the police that he was running the place, he having rented the old house, about three weeks ago. Manatky also claimed an interest in the place, explaining his presence by saying he was paying a friendly visit to Litvick.

He was charging his mother about the house with a hammer. He was given one more chance, a sentence of four months in the house of correction, suspended for six months.

William P. Robson was sentenced to four months in the house of correction, a former suspension being revoked.

Israel Goldman, in for drunkenness, was, according to the judge, again beating up his father and mother. It is said that when he was arrested he

IN TAYLOR CASE

Jealousy Search for New Yorker, Formerly Engaged to Film Star

Pink Lingerie, Bearing Initials of Actress, Said to Have Disappeared

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 6.—Jealousy has directed search for a prominent New York young man, formerly engaged to one of the stars of Hollywood in connection with the shooting, last Wednesday night of William Desmond Taylor, police and private detectives reported today.

Efforts to solve the mystery in the slaying of Taylor brought police today to a "cut-back," a rechecking of the dead man's papers in the hope of obtaining a better clue than any yet evolved.

Deputy sheriffs, municipal detectives and officials of the motion picture company by which Taylor was employed, gathered in the dead director's apartment again, sifting over his papers and documents after a day and night of unusual activities.

Last night, the word went forth that an unnamed motion picture actress had been taken to the county jail for questioning as a "suspect" and that his connection with the case was considered so important that he had been hustled from the motion picture world, where he was at work, with such speed that he had not the time to remove the makeup from his face.

At the same time, two other motion picture employees, one a camera man, also were taken to jail as possible material witnesses.

The actor later was released, but with instructions to keep in touch with the officers. The men taken as possible material witnesses also were given their freedom.

While these matters were developing, inquiries came to the police of the alleged possession by Taylor of women's pink lingerie, one piece of which, a pink night robe, was reported missing from his apartment. When his body was found, one witness was said to have stated, but not to the police, that this particular robe bore the embroidered initials of a motion picture actress.

Close upon the heels of these developments came the report that the police were searching for a drug peddler who was hiding in the town, through Taylor to make delivery of drugs to an actress. The initials of this actress were said to be the same as those on the night robe reported missing.

ELECTION TODAY OF TOWN OFFICIALS

The annual election of town officials is being held today in the towns of Dracut and Chelmsford. In both towns the polls opened at 10 o'clock this forenoon and will close at 5 o'clock this evening.

The two towns are giving precinct voting this time, and according to many of the townspeople, this mode of choosing town officials is the best ever, for it gives every voter an opportunity to cast his or her ballot without being forced to travel to the Centre part of the town, where before the voting has been conducted.

Both towns have been divided into four precincts. In Dracut the voting places are St. Mary's hall, Collinsville, precinct 1; home house, Navy Yard, precinct 2; Grange hall, Centre village, precinct 3; and James J. McLaughlin's, precinct 4. In Chelmsford, the precincts are as follows: Centre town hall, 1; North village town hall, 2; historical hall, West Chelmsford, 3 and school house, East village, 4.

In Dracut there is a contest for selectman. In collector, road commissioner, school committee and treasurer. The candidates are as follows: Selectman, Bert A. Cluff, George C. Kenney and Fred E. Pollard; one to be chosen. Tax collector, Fred Fox, Francis J. Callahan and Paul Merrill. School committee, three to be chosen, Albert H. Coburn, William H. Callahan, Jr., Christabel Gleason, Nelson H. Huntley, Arthur W. Pilotte and Fred Richardson, treasurer, George H. Stevens and George A. O'Malley.

In Chelmsford there is a contest for two offices only, school committee and town constable. The candidates being as follows: School committee, Herbert Waterhouse and John Whitworth, Constable, Fred I. Vinal and Charles Petrie. The result of the election in both towns will not be known until late tonight. The annual town meetings of both towns will be held next Monday.

Will Leon Goslin, Washington's regular outfielder, emulate the deeds of Sam Rice?

Goslin is expected to win a regular place in the Washington outfield next season, alongside of Rice and Milan.

Sam Rice came to the American league as a pitcher. He had plenty of stuff and seemed to have a great chance to make good.

Lack of control was his worst fault. In between pitches he performed poorly. Rice showed that he could hit and was fast on his feet.

George Buss of the Detroit club is a poor hitter. Buss broke up a ball game one day that had gone extra-innings. He hit one of Buss's fast ones for three bases.

Rice is today one of the most valuable players in the game. He can do everything well.

Goslin, who made such a fine debut as a big leaguer last fall, a home run off Father that broke up a ball game being one of his best efforts, is figured as a regular.

Goslin made his professional debut like Rice as a pitcher. In 1920 he won seven games and lost four for the Columbia club in the South Atlantic league.

Ability to hit the old ball caused him to shift to the outfield.

Says Farmers Will Resent New Taxes

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—Farmers of the country will not stand for any more taxes, while "profiteers go unsentenced as they did during the war," Benjamin C. Marsh, managing director of the Farmers' National Council, declared today at a hearing before the house ways and means committee considering soldier bonus legislation. Expressing opposition to a sales tax or any other levy on consumption, he urged restoration of the excess profits taxes.

FALLING OFF IN EMPLOYMENT HERE

According to statistics released by the department of labor through its employment service, the result of its industrial survey for the month ending January 31 shows Lowell to be among the 25 cities reporting employment decreases for last month against the previous month, Lowell lost 3.9 per cent.

Industrial classifications showing increases in employment are food and kindred products; leather and finished products; paper and printing; liquor and beverages; chemicals and allied products; metals and metal products other than iron and steel; vehicles for land transportation and miscellaneous industries.

This monthly survey is based on actual figures taken from the larger industrial payrolls of the country, estimates and guess work thus being eliminated. The statistics upon which its computations are based are gathered each month by the department's chief agents in 63 principal industrial centers and transmitted by telegraph. In all, 1123 firms, each usually employing more than 500 workers, or a total of 1,600,000 are covered in the survey. On January 31 these 1123 firms had 63,460 more employees on their books than they carried on December 31, which is an increase of 4.2 per cent.

The industries which show a decrease are textiles and their products; iron and steel and their products; lumber and its manufacture; stone, clay and glass products; tobacco manufacturers and railroad repair shops.

Of the cities in this state to show an increase are Springfield, Brockton and New Bedford, while those to report a decrease include Lowell, Worcester, Lawrence, Fall River and Boston.

Lowell shows the greatest decrease of any of the Bay State cities while Boston shows the least.

According to the report the employment conditions fail to give any indication of the substantial improvement in business activities predicted for January. The figures last month were obtained during inventory period, particularly those in the auto industry.

Textiles and iron and steel which have been on the upward swing for some months past, show a downward tendency in employment for the past 30 days.

According to Francis J. Jones, director general of the U. S. employment service, the feeling that there will be a decided change for the better by early spring is manifested by every section of the country and seems to be based on real evidence of prosperity and not mere optimism.

Entering Miss Silverman's room as she lay in bed, Baker threw the acid on her, turned on a gas jet, and left for his own quarters in another rooming house. Miss Silverman, who is 13 years old, is in a serious condition at the hospital. She has lost the sight of one eye and physicians fear she will become totally blind.

SHOE SHOP TO SHUT DOWN INDEFINITELY

The entire plant of the Federal Shoe Co. in Dix street will shut down about March 1 for an indefinite period, so it was learned at the office of the company today. The reason given for the cessation of operations is that the plants are not selling. One of the officials of the company stated today that the plant has been curtailing for some time and departments are gradually shutting down and it is expected that about the first of next month the work will have been balanced up and the entire plant will close until further notice. The shut down will affect about 500 men and women.

CHARGES AGAINST SUPT. OF HOSPITAL

Walter C. Bruce, formerly a clerk in the office of the city purchasing agent, will appear before the board of health at 4.30 this afternoon to bring charges of ineffectuality against Dr. Foster H. Smith, superintendent of the isolation hospital.

Mr. Bruce said today that his action is taken as the result of treatment accorded a woman employee of the hospital, who was sick, and he also alleged poor treatment of patients in one or two instances.

The charges have not been preferred against the superintendent in writing, but Mr. Bruce has notified the board that he will be present and has requested that they summon Dr. Smith.

ROBBED BY COMPANION

Mystery Surrounds Peculiar

Affair in Middlesex Street—Were Blows Struck?

Was there murder in this man's heart? In Middlesex street, near School Sunday night, two men were walking toward the railroad station, when one was seen to stagger and fall as if a blunt instrument in the hand of the other fell on his head with great force. His companion was seen to stoop over the body and was heard to repeat several times:

"Sam, are you dead?"
The man was Samuel Paul.
No reply came from the lips of Paul, who lay unconscious on the sidewalk. Quickly glancing around, the other man turned over the body, stripped off the overcoat, rolled the body into the gutter and hurried off down the street.

Two women who saw the grim drama were the only spectators as far as can be learned. The spot is rather poorly lighted at that street and several minutes passed before a man came along. They told him what they had seen and he put in a telephone call for an ambulance.

When the companion of the man who lay in the gutter was first seen running down the street, the women thought he was hurrying for help, but he did not return.

He was taken to the Lowell Corporation hospital, where it was said today that he had cuts about the face and head. No trace of his companion can be found.

LOWELL BOY PASSES BAR EXAMINATIONS

Raymond P. Bourgeois, son of Mrs. Pierre Bourgeois, of 40 Arlington street, this city, today received word that he had successfully passed the Massachusetts bar examinations for a lawyer.

During the war he served in the United States navy. He studied law in his spare time and took a course at the Northeastern college in Boston, from where he was granted a degree last June.

He took his examination on Jan. 7 and received word today of his success. He is now working in the office of Atty. Arthur Egan, where he has been employed for the past several months.
